Lebanon Asking Aid, Charges Syria Attack

Says Force Is Needed To Seal Border

Chamoun Claims All Mideast Threatened By Nasser's Actions

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Heavy firing broke out in Lebanon late today shortly after the government announced it had asked for an armed U.N. emergency force to seal off the frontier.

President Camille Chamoun said he expected a big rebel push against his pro-Western government at any hour, but it was too soon to say whether this was it.

Battle in Outskirts

The heaviest firing was heard in Ghandak Ghamik, on the outskirts of the Basta section of Beirut where rebel forces under former Premier Saeb Salam are entrenched inside barricades.

Shooting broke out in the post office area at about the same time and firing erupted and bombs were exploded in Ashrafiah, the Christian quarter in the eastern part of the capital.

Machine guns, mortar fire, dynamite bombs and small arms fire could be heard as the rebels and security forces exchanged fire.

The fighting broke a long day of unusual calm in Beirut.

Premier Sami Solh announced the request for a U.N. force to completely seal off Lebanon's frontiers with the Syrian province of President Nasser's United Arab Republic.

Request Handed to Dag

The request was handed to U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold who wound up his on-the-spot survey here today and left for New York without making any comment.

President Camille Chamoun told a news conference the shelling of his forces from Syrian soil took place Tuesday in the presence of U.N. observers.

Chamoun said the activities of Nasser's government had made the rebellion against his own regime a crisis affecting the peace of the entire Middle East and his government could not be expected to bear the burden alone.

Solh said in an exclusive interview that U.N. observers alone cannot solve the problem of infiltration from the U.A.R.

The observers were assigned by the U.N. Security Council to look into Lebanese charges of U.A.R. aid for rebels who have been trying since May 10 to overthrow

LEBANON EXPECTS ATTACK. President Camille Chamoun of Lebanon warned in Beirut, Lebanon, Tuesday that his government expected a major attack by the pro-Syrian and pro-Egyptian rebels, probably within 48 hours. The warning came at the same time as the explosion of a bomb 30 yards from the car of the U.S. Ambassador. (UPI Telephoto)

Embassy Is Target

Riots Against U.S. Staged in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP) — A crowd of more than 1,000 Russians, some angrily shaking their fists and shouting foul epithets, demonstrated today at the U.S. Embassy.

About 150 Soviet policemen kept the crowd under control. One screaming Russian hurled a stone through an open window but there was no damage.

U.S. Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson told reporters he planned no protest because "under our system of government we do not object to peaceful assembly and demonstrations."

The demonstration went on for 2 hours and 15 minutes before the first Soviet police cars pulled up to begin dispersing the crowds with blaring loudspeakers.

Some of the crowd still was around an hour later, but the banners were furled and all the hard core demonstrators had left.

The crowd included some youths in army uniforms. The Russians converged on the building in what clearly was a well-planned demonstration in retaliation for demonstrations by Hungarian refugees last weekend at the Soviet U.N. offices in New York.

About 25 Soviet policemen held the crowd back when it first surged across the sidewalk toward the 10-story embassy building. The number of police was quickly increased to 150.

Some demonstrators shouted for Ambassador Thompson to make an appearance. He was away at the time and was understood to be having lunch at home.

American diplomats and their families looked out from upper story windows to observe the demonstration. The crowd whistled and shouted catcalls. Then some demonstrators whipped out pocket mirrors and flashed sunlight into the eyes of the watching Americans.

The Russians were emotional but much less rowdy than the ones who demonstrated Monday at the West Germany Embassy and last week at the Danish Embassy. The German Embassy was heavily

War Would Topple Dictator

Nasser Done if Lebanon Crisis Gets Out of Hand

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

BEIRUT (AP) — Gamal Abdel Nasser, the evidence indicates, is frightened.

The torment of Lebanon may mean a big general crisis is yet to come. Nasser cannot afford such a crisis.

Often he is called the lucky dictator. Things have broken well for him through the crises which have marked his rule. But Nasser has been pushing his luck.

Will Need Assistance

I have just completed a swing through virtually all the Arab East. One impression stands out. Among young intellectuals, from whom Nasser has drawn much of his strength, doubt is setting in.

But his biggest concern must be for the Egyptian economy.

Sooner or later Egypt will need help to get out of her progressively worsening economic situation.

Nasser and the Russians seem to be sizing up one another carefully. The Soviet treatment of Yugoslavia, execution of Hungarian revolution leaders, had a noticeable effect among Egypt's thinking population.

Contains Political Danger

Nasser at one point offered to make a joint approach with the United States toward a Lebanese solution. The United States did not accept. His press began violently attacking American policy again.

If the Lebanese fighting ends in clear victory for elements he supports, Nasser will have to pursue the advantage elsewhere or surrender the momentum gained by extreme Arab nationalism.

However, if the Lebanese affair ends in palpable Nasser defeat, it will spell political peril for him and might require desperate responses.

The Lebanese affair has frightened other Arab leaders. If the Lebanese government survives, supported by Western power, then Nasser finds his United Arab Republic truly isolated in the world of Arabs. If the Beirut regime falls, more of Nasser's bridges to the West are burned and he must push on in spite of himself with his own brand of liberation.

Eventually Nasser will need help to get out of his financial mess, now complicated by union with Syria. Nasser shows signs of being wary of leaning on the Communist bloc.

Severe Storm Possible Here

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The U.S. Weather Bureau today issued a severe storm and tornado warning for most of central and western Ohio. The warning read:

A few severe thunderstorms with a tornado or two are expected between 1 and 7 p.m., EST, today in an area along and 120 miles south of a line between Terre Haute, Ind., and a point 20 miles north of Mansfield, Ohio.

Reuther Seeks End to Missile Plant Walkout

DETROIT, Mich. (AP)—Defiant pickets, facing union action to take over control of their local, jammed up traffic at the Chrysler Corp. missile plant for a third day today.

A line of cars eight miles long piled up as United Auto Workers pickets paraded before the plant, which produces Army Jupiter and Redstone missiles.

A bottle was tossed into one car and some motorists entering the plant were poked by pickets who reached through car windows.

Deputies formed a cordon to keep nonstrikers' car moving into the plant. Pickets jeered the officers.

Two pickets were held for investigation of disorderly conduct. One was accused of sprinkling tacks at parking lot entrances, and another of excessive abuse of officers.

In a move to quell the wildcat walkout, UAW President Walter Reuther called officers of the striking Local 1245 before the UAW's International Executive Board to show cause why an administrator should not be placed over the local.

The local represents 450 of the missile plant's 8,500 employes. Officers of the local said they were unable to keep the members from walking off the job and picketing the plant Monday and Tuesday.

The government-owned missile plant, 16 miles north of Detroit, is operated by the Chrysler Missile Division.

The 200-mile range Redstone rocket and the 1,500-mile intermediate range Jupiter are assembled at the plant.

UAW members have been working without a contract at Chrysler, General Motors and Ford since June 1 when the 1955 contracts expired with negotiations deadlocked on the national level.

Decisions Sought on Four Issues

Ohio's Legislature Meets, Hears Requests of O'Neill

Probers Hit By Former Head of SEC

Angry Words Traded As Goldfine-Adams Inquiry Continues

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Goldfine-Adams investigation exploded into an angry row today climaxed by dismissal of a former Securities and Exchange Commission chairman from the witness stand.

J. Sinclair Armstrong, SEC chairman in 1955-57 and now an assistant secretary of the Navy, tangled from the outset with Chairman Oren Harris (D-Ark) of the House subcommittee digging into SEC handling of cases involving Bernard Goldfine, a Boston industrialist.

The Congress members want to know whether SEC pulled its punches and whether it was influenced by Sherman Adams, top aide to President Eisenhower and a close friend of Goldfine.

'I've Been Outraged'

"I've been outraged" at allegations that SEC people "could possibly be influenced by anybody," Armstrong hotly told the congressmen.

Harris asked the former SEC chief to step aside and not resume the witness stand until Harris returned from another committee meeting the congressman was about to attend. He said he had some questions to ask personally.

Armstrong kept right on. "I've been waiting for two years to make this statement," he said in a rising voice.

"You've been before this committee at the beginning of every Congress," shot back Harris.

"Well, what have we talked about?" asked Armstrong.

Dismissed From Chair

Banging his gavel, Harris sent Armstrong from the witness chair.

The congressmen then turned to some secondary witnesses.

There were indications the subcommittee would deal gingerly with a question that bobbed up Tuesday — whether Goldfine bestowed favors on federal judges.

Robert W. Lishman, counsel for the subcommittee which has heard of Goldfine's beneficence to presidential aide Sherman Adams and some Republican senators, said any evidence he has on gifts to judges will remain locked in his files until the committee directs otherwise.

Cammarata Is Freed on Bond

Racketeer Fighting To Beat Deportation

DETROIT (AP) — Frank Cammarata, prohibition era figure and convicted bank robber, was free on $20,000 bond today, pending new developments in his fight to avoid deportation to his native Italy.

Cammarata, 60, was placed on bond Tuesday after his lawyers filed notice that they planned to appeal to the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in Cincinnati a deportation order issued here June 18 by Federal Judge Thomas P. Thornton.

Cammarata was deported in 1936 after serving part of a sentence for a 1925 robbery of a Detroit bank. He was arrested by immigration officers in 1946 on grounds of illegally re-entering the country and was again ordered deported.

Instead he was extradited to Michigan to serve the remainder of his bank robbery term. He was released from prison May 29 and has been in the custody of immigration authorities at Detroit until his release bond.

Cammarata was expected to return to his home in Warren, Ohio, pending the decision of the Cincinnati court.

3 Missing, 37 Hurt in Collision

Rammed Tanker Explodes, Flames Light Up New York

NEW YORK (AP) — A Swedish freighter rammed an oil tanker in post-midnight darkness on the East River today. The resulting explosion turned the river into an inferno and sent flames leaping so high they set the Manhattan bridge afire. The tanker sank.

Three persons were reported missing — two from the tanker, one from the freighter. Thirty-seven others were hospitalized and 11 others escaped without serious injury.

Swim Through Flames

Many plunged into the water, screaming for help, and swam through flames to rescue boats.

The fire on Manhattan Bridge did no great damage. Transit and vehicular traffic was halted for a time.

The surface of the river was covered by gasoline from the sunken tanker.

The menace of further explosion or fire was so great that the Coast Guard closed off the river to ships.

An urgent warning was issued against smoking in the area.

Gasoline accumulated along both shores in the vicinity of the crash.

Fire Hoses Ready

Fire hoses were kept ready on all piers and wharves. Gasoline was in the waters of the Brooklyn Navy Yard.

A photographer for the New York Journal-American, William Finn, 52, collapsed and died of a heart attack while covering the disaster.

Many of those rescued were saved by a fireboat that daringly maneuvered alongside the flaming wreckage so that crewmen could leap aboard.

Individual acts of heroism accounted for other rescues.

The collision occurred about 12:25 a.m. at about midstream. Manhattan Bridge, more than 130 feet above, connects lower Manhattan with Brooklyn. It carries subway lines as well as an auto roadway.

Tanker Goes to Bottom

The tanker, the 531-ton Empress Bay, owned by the Petroleum Tanker Corp., sank after breaking away from the freighter. For a time, the two ships were locked together in a flaming grip, the prow of the freighter cutting into the hull of the tanker to form a "T."

The other ship, the Nebraska, was burned and battered but able to make port under her own power. A 5,200-tonner, she is owned by the Swedish transatlantic line.

The leaping flames singed the bridge and set it afire briefly, burning high-tension wires underneath it. Thick smoke blacked out the span, causing its closing to both automobile and subway traf-

Compromise Ruled Out for Trade Policies

Dulles Tells Senators Administration Will Not Retreat in Fight

WASHINGTON (AP)—Secretary of State Dulles has told senators the administration has no intention of compromising in its right for a five-year extension of the reciprocal trade agreements program.

Dulles reaffirmed his position to individual senators as indications mounted that proposals to cut the life of the program to three years are gaining headway in the Senate.

Senators William F. Knowland of California, Senate Republican leader, and Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, chairman of the GOP Policy Committee, already have announced they will seek to reduce the period to three years. The House voted a five-year extension when it passed the administration bill.

The measure would permit the President to cut tariffs as much as 25 per cent during the five-year period. Opponents contend it would further damage industries already hurt by imports.

Sen. H. Alexander Smith (R-NJ) one of those who has conferred with Dulles on the program, said he will be deeply disappointed if a majority of Republicans don't vote with the administration on the issue.

He said Dulles made a good case in arguing that a three-year extension would bring the issue

Appeals Court Asked To Rule On Integration

ST. LOUIS (AP)—The U. S. Court of Appeals here has received a motion to stay a District Court order delaying racial integration of Central High School at Little Rock, Ark., for 2½ years.

The motion arrived by mail and was accompanied by a notice of appeal from the ruling by U. S. Dist. Judge Harry J. Lemley at Little Rock.

If Judge Lemley's order is affirmed, Negro children who attended Central this past school year won't be back next fall.

Attorneys for the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People are fighting the judge's order. They claim that just because the city is "psychologically unready" for racial integration there is no basis for noncompliance with the "constitutional law of the United States."

Robert Tucker, clerk of the appellate court here, said he would send the motion for a stay to Chief Judge Archibald K. Gardner at his Huron, S. D., home.

Theft Suspect Gives Self Up At Mt. Vernon

Central Ohio Search Ended; Man To Face Charge at Circleville

DELAWARE — Paul R. Hysell, 38, of Columbus, object of a manhunt started Monday night, is behind bars today in Pickaway County jail following his capture by state patrolmen of the Mount Vernon post about noon Tuesday.

Wanted for questioning in connection with burglaries in several Central Ohio counties, the man was taken into custody just east of the Delaware County line in Knox County, state patrolmen of the Delaware post reported this morning.

They said Hysell surrendered without resistance to a patrolman and an auxiliaryman at the edge of a highway where he had been spotted walking earlier by an area resident who notified authorities.

Late Monday night Hysell had been stopped along Rt. 3 near Sunbury by a Delaware County sheriff's deputy but when the lone officer attempted to take him into custody, the ex-convict bolted across a field into the darkness.

Burglary tools were found in his auto at the time and he was believed armed. No gunfire was exchanged during the capture Tuesday, however, patrolmen reported.

Two of Hysell's brothers, picked up on suspicion of burglary earlier this week at their Columbus home, are being held at Pickaway Coun

Cloud Plans Swift Action On Program

House Speaker Hopes To Send All 4 Bills to Senate Late Thursday

COLUMBUS Ohio (AP)—Half of Gov. C. William O'Neill's special session program will clear the House early Thursday, Speaker Roger Cloud (R-Logan) predicted today.

Action on the other half may send all four administration bills to the Senate Thursday night, he added.

Leaders of the Republican-dominated Legislature expressed hope for the session to wind up late Friday.

Hear O'Neill's Requests

Lawmakers convened at 2 p.m. EST, today to hear O'Neill request more money for poor relief, extension of jobless benefits, a highway billboard ban and revision of sewer and water line laws.

Cloud expressed confidence that representatives will act first to ease the poor relief problem and remove a legal block to 23 million dollars worth of rural utility line extensions.

Leaders expect the governor to ask an additional six million dollars to continue state matching of county poor relief expenditures.

They said it would take more time to act on proposals for jobless benefits and a billboard ban.

The governor said he would not release his message to the Legislature in advance of delivery.

Democrats claim the proposals are too little and too late. They said the session should have been called last January for action also on additional matters. Only business specified in the governor's call can be considered by a special session.

SUB Democratic Target

A prime Democratic target will be Republican opposition to action on supplemental unemployment benefits (SUB). Party leaders made it clear they would have plenty to say about the SUB issue.

House Speaker Cloud expects to take the floor to defend the Republican position if the situation reaches the boiling point.

Without taking a stand, O'Neill said SUB could be considered under his call for extending the 26-week state jobless benefit period to 39 weeks for workers remaining unemployed.

SUB contracts in the steel, rubber, automotive and other major industries would supplement state benefits to give jobless workers about 65 per cent of their take-home pay. Test cases in the Ohio Supreme Court challenge administrative rulings that most SUB payments must be deducted from state benefits.

Hospital Bond Discussion Set

Board Will Consider Plans for Fifth Floor

Members of the Marion General Hospital board of governors are expected to discuss placing of a bond issue on the fall ballot for constructing a fifth floor on the hospital when they hold their monthly meeting Thursday night.

One of the big questions facing the board is the amount needed to pay for the project. This in turn will depend partly on how much federal aid may be obtained and whether or not the City Council and county commissioners agree to permit the use of some of the hospital operating income for capital improvements.

Overcrowding at the hospital is a serious problem and a fifth floor to provide more bed space is badly needed, board members and hospital officials report.

If a bond issue is to be placed on the ballot, it must be submitted to the county auditor for certification no less than 110 days prior to the election or about the middle of July.

Ohio To Share in Benefits of Giant Project

U.S. Phase of St. Lawrence Seaway Nears Finish

The St. Lawrence Seaway is close to being a reality.

The United States end of the billion - dollar project will be ready for operation next week. The Canadian work will be finished early next year.

It looks like a big thing for Ohio—northern Ohio directly and the rest of the state indirectly.

For the second time in two years, AP staffer Art Parks has gone to the International Rapids area of the St. Lawrence to check on Seaway progress from an Ohioan's viewpoint.

The first of his three dispatches, appear today.

By ART PARKS

MASSENA, N. Y. (AP) — One day next week in a slightly premature Fourth of July celebration a 30-ton dynamite blast will signal the practical completion of the United States' share of the billion-dollar St. Lawrence Seaway project.

Three days after the blast pulverizes a temporary earthen dam a few miles upstream from Massena, two huge new locks will begin operation, a gigantic hydroelectric plant will begin to generate power and the dream of recent generations will be on the verge of coming true.

First of a Series

But the golden flood of world trade which is expected to reach the Ohio shore of Lake Erie in the form of shipping from all ports all over the world will have to wait a while. Next spring when the shipping season opens, Canada expects to have finished all of her Seaway canal system in the Montreal area.

THEN THE Great Lakes will join the United States' coasts on the Atlantic, the Pacific and the Gulf of Mexico as the nation's "fourth sea coast." Some people even refer to it as the "Eighth Sea."

Giant ocean-going freighters and ore carriers which need up to 27 feet of water under their bottoms to float will be able to sail from the Atlantic into such Ohio ports as Conneaut, Ashtabula, Cleveland, Lorain and Toledo.

European shippers will be able to deliver huge cargoes direct to America's heartland—west of the Appalachians — without the extra cost of unloading and reloading at Atlantic ports.

To the average citizen on a first visit to the vast engineering project which is expected to bring 36½ million tons of imports into the Great Lakes next year, the system of locks, dams and dikes seems fantastically complex.

UNDERSTANDABLY, the project engineers proudly pour your ears full of "how" they did the gigantic job. That mixes up the thinking of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Citizen. They become confused between "what" has been done and "how" it was done.

Let's take it step by step, the problem, the objectives and the solution:

Problem: The famed International Rapids of the St. Lawrence, a centuries-old blockade to navigation, a 10-mile river section in the Massena area in which the river torrent tumbled 90 feet in its rush toward the Atlantic. For more than 100 years, a series of Canadian canals have bypassed the Rapids, but even with their latest improvement in 1901, they never handled ships which needed more than 14 feet water depth. That limited cargoes to about 2,500 tons.

FIRST OBJECTIVE: Create a seaway to handle ships up to 27 feet draft which carry bulk cargoes like iron ore, coal and grain up to 25,000 tons.

Second objective: Turn the energy created by the water's 90-foot fall into electric power.

Complication: Ten-mile-long, U. S.-owned Barnhart Island which splits the mighty river into two channels at Massena.

1. Construction of a big concrete dam at Iroquois, Ont., which will keep the level of Lake Ontario from fluctuating up and down. That's about 30 miles upstream—toward Lake Ontario — from the Massena area.

2. Construction of two dams at Barnhart Island, one across each channel. Half of the dam across the north channel lies in Canada and half in the United States. This dam actually is a hydroelectric plant. The only way the water can get through it is to pass through 32 giant turbines, 16 in each half of the dam.

THE OTHER DAM—The Long Sault (pronounced Soo) — permanently blocks off the south channel of the river. The Long Sault, along with about 25 miles of towering earthen dikes, will encircle what the project engineers call the "power pool." It will be a reservoir covering thousands of acres which will insure a steady flow of water through the power plant and plenty of water for nearby ship locks.

3. Last—and certainly most important to Ohio—is the 10-mile Wiley-Dondero Canal which bypasses the whole International Rapids area. It has the Dwight D. Eisenhower lock at one end and the Bertrand H. Snell lock at the other. Both locks will lift or lower vessels about 45 feet. Together, they will overcome the 90 feet difference in elevation between Lake Ontario and th downriver foot of the Snell lock.

Each of the locks is 800 feet long, 80 feet wide and will handle a ship with a draft up to 30 feet. The dimensions are the same as those of the locks in the Welland Canal which connects Lake Ontario with Lake Erie.

That brings us back to the premature Fourth of July celebration, that 30-ton dynamite blast. t's a sort of chain reaction scheduled to get under way July 1.

First, the engineers will close the Long Sault Dam, causing the power pool to start to fill. Then they will blow up a temporary dam which now is keeping the bed of the north channel of the river around Barnhart Island as dry as a bone. By Independence Day, the power pool will be full and the power plant and the Wiley-Dondero Canal will be in business.

BRYAN, Ohio (AP)—The National Threshers Assn. opens its 14th annual convention Thursday at the Williams County Fairgrounds in nearby Montpelier. The three-day event is expected to draw members from 25 states and Canada. Some 30,000 persons are expected to be on hand to watch tests, demonstrations and exhibits.

Ashley Pastor Gets New Assignment

ASHLEY—The Rev. Harley Borden, who has been pastor of the Ashley and Westfield Methodist churches for the last 12½ years, preached his farewell sermon Sunday morning.

The Rev. Mr. Borden has been assigned to the new district camp for the Mansfield area, Camp Wesley, near Perrysville. There he will be in charge of development of the camp.

The Rev. Mr. Borden, a native of Coshocton County, was graduated from Blissfield High School in 1923, West Lafayette Normal School in 1924 and Taylor University in 1929. He married the former Mary Lela Macy of Union City, also a graduate of Taylor University.

He received his degree in sacred theology from Boston University in 1933 and entered the Northeast Ohio Conference the same year on a trial basis. He became a full member in 1935.

He served charges in Coshocton, Licking and Geauga counties prior to World War II when he became a chaplain. He came to Ashley in January, 1946. He has two sons, both in service.

Two events will honor the Rev. Mr. Borden and his wife before they leave next month. The first will be at the Westfield Methodist Church July 2 at 8 p.m. when a public dinner will be served. Those attending are to bring a covered dish and sandwiches.

The other event will be at the Ashley Church July 5 at 6:30 p.m. when another public dinner will be served.

New Floor Care Ends Waxing

One of the difficult jobs of housekeeping is to wax linoleum and asphalt tile floors. Now, thanks to Glaxo, it's no longer necessary to wax and scrub; just apply Glaxo about twice a year. It maintains a high lustre non slip coating that seals out dirt. Glaxo dries in one hour and is water clear. It's cheaper than wax in the long run, besides saving a terrific amount of work, plus truly a beautiful floor.

North Dakota Senator Wins Renomination

FARGO, N.D. (AP)—North Dakota's colorful veteran Sen. William Langer won Republican nomination for a fourth term without party backing in a race with Lt. Gov. Clyde Duffy, the GOP choice, in Tuesday primary election.

Duffy conceded in a telegram in which he wished Langer the best of luck in the fall election.

With 830 precincts of 2,332 reported, Langer had 24,463, Duffy 15,178.

Langer's bid for re-endorsement was spurned by the GOP State Convention this spring in favor of Duffy, Devils Lake attorney.

Entering the race as an independent and relying on a following built up through more than 40 years in state politics, Langer made only a handful of campaign appearances. Although showing effects of a recent illness, the 71-year-old senator claimed his health was not a campaign issue. He read a statement from a Maryland hospital saying he had recovered completely.

On the Democrtic side, returns from 784 precincts gave Raymond G. Vendsel, state senator and farmer from Carpio, 10,857 to 5,301 for Anson J. Anderson, member of the State Public Service Commission, in the Senate nomination race.

Bomb Scare Hoax

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Twenty-nine passengers, including singer Keely Smith, were unloaded from an airliner Tuesday night after a caller reported a bomb aboard. There wasn't. After a search by FBI agents—and a two-hour delay—the Western Air Lines plane was allowed to take off for Las Vegas, Nev.

Army Puts Up Big Redstone Missile in Test

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. AP) —An Army Redstone ballistic missile has completed another apparently highly successful trip through space.

The huge Redstone, capable of striking a target more than 500 miles away with extreme accuracy, blasted away in a fiery show of power Tuesday night.

The shoot brought the 63-foot Chrysler rocket a step closer to becoming the first ballistic missile to be deployed in the field with combat troops. The Redstone may be activated with artillery units in a month or two.

The Redstone also may be the first rocket to carry man into space and return him safely to earth.

Dr. Herbert York, chief scientist for the Advanced Research Projects Agency, announced recently that proposals have been made to use the Redstone for a manned space flight.

The trip probably would last about six minutes, York said. The plans still are in the bare preliminary stages, however.

The Redstone provides the first-stage launching vehicle for Explorer satellites.

Building Cornice Falls, Woman Fatally Injured

DETROIT (AP)—A woman window shopper was killed and two others were hurt in a rain of masonry chunks from the collapse of a seventh-story downtown building cornice Tuesday.

Rush hour crowds would have been periled had the heavy section of masonry fallen only a few minutes earlier. Crowds of other shoppers and homegoing salespeople had barely departed.

An 18-foot section of cornice high on a Woodward Avenue building broke off, showering the sidewalk below with heavy pieces of cement. Rusted supporting rods were blamed.

Mrs. Myrtle Taggart, 79, a widow, was struck and killed.

Cooney Weiland, former National Hockey League star who directed Harvard to five straight Ivy League hockey titles, has been granted the honorary athlete H.

Ammonia Fumes Hit 8-Block Area In Hastings, Mich.

HASTINGS, Mich. (AP) — A young couple and their two infant sons were overcome by ammonia fumes Tuesday night when a line through which liquid ammonia was being pumped from a tank car to a storage tank burst.

Police Chief Richard Sunior said hundreds of pounds of the liquid ammonia escaped and enveloped an eight square block of Hastings with a dense fog of ammonia gas.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Roscoe, both in their early 20s, and their sons Charles Jr., 18 months, and Kevin, 5 months, were overcome. All were hospitalized. Their condition was reported good.

Sunior said the Roscoe's lived near the railroad siding on which the tank car carrying the ammonia was parked.

The ammonia was sent by the Olin Mathieson Corp., Morgantown, W. Va., to the P. B. Anhydrous Ammonia Co., Dorr, Mich.

Upper Plant Lays Off 43 Employes

UPPER SANDUSKY — Westinghouse Elec. Corp. Tuesday announced a layoff of 43 employes from its Upper Sandusky plant, effective Friday. Only new orders could halt the layoff.

Total payroll normally is 152 workers at the plant.

All production and most service employes will be furloughed from July 17 to Aug. 15. The following two weeks will be the normal close-down.

I stopped waiting...bought a new Plymouth...and man, what I saved!
Sometimes it's smart to wait, sometimes it isn't! Take me. I was putting off buying that new car we needed. Then I dropped in at my Plymouth dealer's. It was the most profitable visit of my life.
I found I could get my choice of new Plymouths at prices a whole lot lower than I believed possible. PLUS a trade-in offer on my old car so high that I made 'em say it twice!
And still more! I saved a clean $140 on the Plymouth ride alone. That's famous Torsion-Aire Ride, Plymouth's top luxury ride. It's standard on all Plymouths (even the least expensive) at no extra cost . . . but you have to pay up to $140 extra for the top ride of the other two leading cars in the low-price field.
And Plymouth proved it can save me gas money by winning the 1958 Mobilgas Economy Run. (There's a new Fuel-Saver Choke that makes your gas buck go a lot further!) It proved it will save me still more money at trade-in time, with new Silver Dart Styling that will look new and bring more years from now!
Here's a beauty that's a money-saver. I'm a proud guy right now... and a whole lot of money ahead! See your Plymouth dealer.

They Dissent at Their Own Risk

Perhaps it would be ideal if every brass hat in the nation's military establishments were free to second-guess the commander-in-chief and his executive officer, the secretary of defense, in public or in private.

National defense would be the subject of a never-ending debate, with congressmen judging the contest.

There would be no more "command decisions" in the Pentagon. Discussions would take the place of orders, collective responsibility would take the place of personal responsibility. It might be a better way to handle the problem.

Certainly the way now in use leaves a great deal to be desired. It has left much to be desired in the latest tiff between the chief of naval operations, Adm. Arleigh Burke, and Defense Secretary McElroy over military reorganization. It has left much to be desired in every instance of disagreement between civilians and militarists, between militarists and militarists and between civilians and civilians. It has given rise to the legend that the penalty for being honest in the armed services is to be busted out into the privations of the civilian world.

But as instance upon instance of disagreement pile up, the evidence becomes overwhelming that dissent at their own risk is not the world's worst rule for admirals, generals and their juniors. It is probably the only way the ingenuity of man could devise to keep them from popping off 24 hours a day, 365 days a year, in the absence of military unification.

In 1949, when unification was being attempted in a burst of official optimism, a certain Capt. Burke was part of a Navy "Operation 23" that tried to scuttle it. There was doubt for a time that his career in the Navy would flourish after this insubordination, but he went on to become chief of operations, which is tantamount to being chairman of the board. He dissented at his own risk and won. Capt. John G. Crommelin, another dissenter, didn't do so well. But he, too, took a calculated risk.

How else could it be done—in the absence of unification?

New Issue in Little Rock

Originally, the issue in Little Rock was law.

Then, it became law and politics, thanks to Gov. Faubus.

Now a third issue has been added—education.

U.S. District Judge Harry A. Lemley's ruling that seven Negro students enrolled at Central High School when the school year ended cannot come back next fall is based on considerations of education.

The Little Rock school board's petition to Federal Court for temporary relief from the problems of integration was based on considerations of education.

Witnesses during the hearings in Federal Court testified on the considerations of education during a school year in which a handful of students needled by adult racists on the outside had made school administration and teaching a nightmare.

The Little Rock school board, which had prepared a program of integration well in advance of the first small-scale integration in Central High School, was willing to concede that the anti-integrationists temporarily had carried the day. They asked, therefore, for a suspension of integration for two and a half years, coinciding with the expiration of a third term for Gov. Faubus, if he wins his current bid for re-election.

It was on this basis that Judge Lemley ruled in the board's favor—that orderly, systematic education and integration were incompatible as long as anti-integrationists continued to be active in Little Rock. They had proved they had the power to carry their point by making nuisances of themselves—by systematically resisting integration and thereby keeping the question open.

Lawyers and politicians finally had to acknowledge that teachers also had a voice in the argument over desegregation.

It Will Take a Little Time

When the Senate Commerce Committee furrows its brows this week over the accuracy of television rating services, it will be furthering the education of the ground-floor crowd in a new field where there still will be much to be learned a generation from now.

The Commerce Committee is interested because costs are determined by ratings as well as the fate of talent, yet there is no way to rate the ratings. The rating services, themselves, do not claim the infallibility that sometimes is claimed in their behalf by television people.

Variety, the show business trade journal, thinks there is light on the horizon, because sponsors are learning there is more to selling their products than numbers.

This is the discovery that was made by the motion picture industry after it went overboard in quest of numbers, only to learn belatedly that quality was just as important as quantity.

It is the discovery made before that by the newspaper industry, which has demonstrated repeatedly that the quality of its subscribers is as important to its advertizers as their quantity.

Magazines also have demonstrated this truism in communications.

It will take a little time for television to understand why mere numbers of human beings with TV sets turned on do not indicate the impact of a program on the public. Numbers cannot show how successfully product identification is being made, or whether good will is being created. They cannot show whether the prospects for a product are being appealed to in a manner that makes them want to buy it.

It is doubtful if the Commerce Committee can go into all this in one investigation, but it can help television to make the adjustment to reality that has proved so difficult for it so far—and even more difficult for some of its sponsors who took too literally what they were told about ratings, as far as indicating potential sales was concerned.

Beauty vs. Efficiency

Marion councilmen in coming weeks will be faced with the problem of deciding which is better: beauty or efficiency. At issue is the practice of planting trees between sidewalk and street. An ordinance has been introduced which would prohibit this practice.

There are valid reasons for requesting such a ban. For one thing, the land between sidewalk and street is city property and the city is responsible for care of trees planted there. Disease has killed most of our elm trees, and their removal has become something of a problem, says Mrs. Norma Jacob (D-5th), who spoke in favor of the ordinance at Monday's council meeting. Other reasons, listed by City Engineer John Ruth, are that the land is needed for utility lines; that without trees, street widening would be easier, motorists would have a clearer view, and sidewalks would not be heaved up by growing roots.

There are equally good reasons, though, for encouraging tree planting, rather than prohibiting it. Probably nothing contributes more to the good looks of a street than a stately row of trees. Their shade contributes immensely to the comfort of citizens who live beneath them. They help hide power and telephone poles and lines. Their beauty refreshes spirits jaded by the bustle of modern life.

Councilman Harold Smith (D-at large) would like to keep the trees, even if they are "old fashioned." There probably are many Marionites who agree with him.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

What goes in show business with those who dish out entertainment, some of it into the living room, and say that it might incriminate and degrade them if they leveled with the audience on a simple question, "Is you is or is you ain't?"

As a guy who twists that little dial, and sometimes sees a legit production, I'm jittery. I'm even afraid my Shakespeare will be served with Russian dressing, and that the weather forecast may be made by a Volga boatman. Can you cheer me up? T. K. M.

IT AIN'T EASY. "I could have clammed up all night, " is no musical hit. Only a few are involved so far and there is no proof Broadway is operating under the slogan, "There's no business like a refusal to say yes or no business."

The great rank and file of show folks don't have to ad lib their way out of the question, "Are you a Commie now and were you the night before last?" from a Washington committee.

MILLIONS OF AMERICANS are being imposed upon when folks penetrating the old homestead through entertainment programs, movies or stage productions won't say whether they give Uncle Sam the star's dressing room or give it to the team of Lenin, Stalin and Khrushchev in their knockabout sketch "Have Monkey Wrench; Will Travel."

The First Amendment is a protection for all but it gives many the creeps to feel it is ever used in the world of song and dance, whodunits, panel shows and quiz programs.

It would be nice to believe that our entertainment specialists would always say, without consulting their lawyer, whether they billed Uncle Sam second to Gromyko.

Most folks figure Georgie Cohan's "Grand Old Flag" and "I'm a Yankee Doodle Dandy" are still revered by Broadway, regardless of vintage, and hope they're not being fooled. Don't be too alarmed.

Complaints of assault on the four freedoms and attacks on the intelligence of the cash customers will still be welcomed at the box office. There's no room in show biz for a production entitled, "King Nikita's NYETS of the RUNAROUND table."

TWENTY-TWO RAILROAD presidents met in Gotham the other day. Wonder if any of them got in on schedule?

Elfrida von Nardroff, TV quiz champ, has chosen Three Mile Harbor, L. I., as a vacation place. We would have suggested Boothbay, Me., Braintree, Mass., or Keene, N. H.

What's so odd about a scientist turning up as a race track figure? All race track addicts consider themselves scientists. It takes atomic energy to change their minds so swiftly.

Trujillo is so sore at Uncle Sam over his son's failure to get a diploma at a U.S. military school that he won't take any of his money. To get him to accept our dough it may be necessary to put our Army schools under supervision of Zsa Zsa Gabor and let Kim Novak sign diplomas.

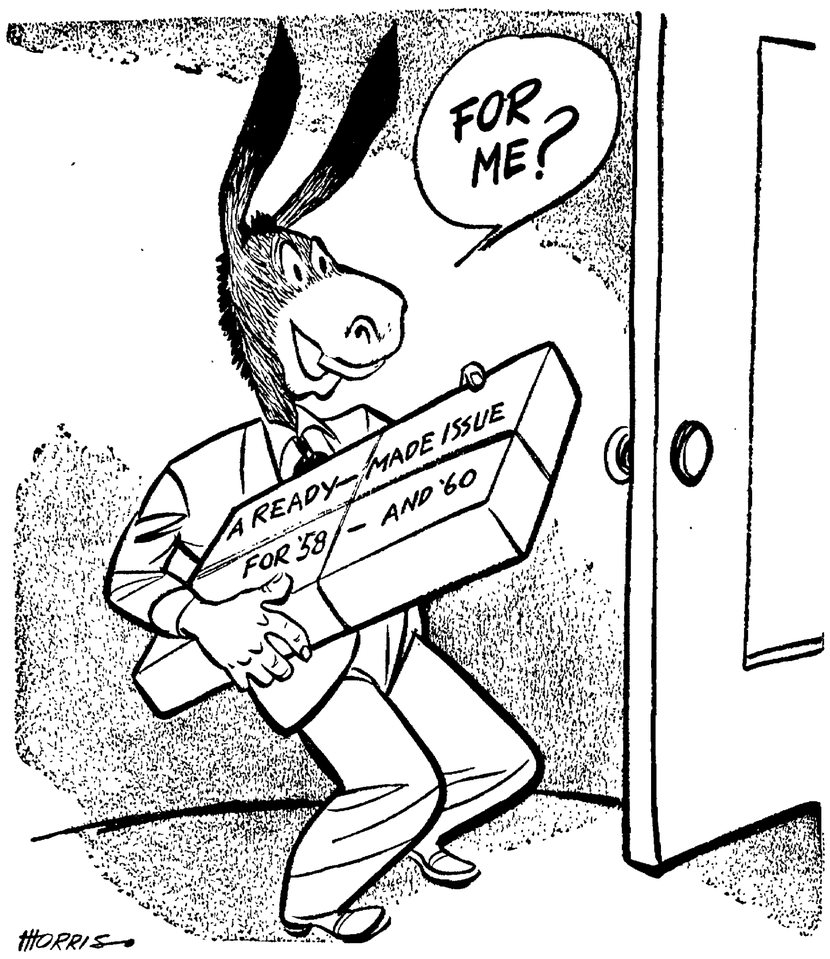
Speaking of Gifts:



Appeal to Reason

By David Lawrence

Reason — the greatest antidote to violence will have perhaps its biggest test as applied to an internal policy if the order issued by U. S. District Judge Harry J. Lemley, postponing school integration at Little Rock for the next two and a half years is not reversed by a higher court.

Lawrence

For the judge's order puts the burden of action on those who feel that delay is needed and that the time can be utilized effectively to adjust the differing points of view at Little Rock.

Two and a half years is not a long time in which to seek a cooling of passions and an adjustment that has been complicated by a number of state laws and constitutional provisions on the integration problem not yet passed upon specifically by the Supreme Court.

These conflicting laws are the subject of many pending suits in the lower courts which will take at least two years to decide.

Supt. Virgil Blossom of the Little Rock schools — a critic of Gov. Faubus and a man who has tried earnestly to end segregation—asked the district court for the delay of two and a half years.

He pointed out that it took from 1619 to 1865 before the first major change occurred in civil rights for Negroes.

Then from 1965 to 1896 the second period elapsed before a second change—"separate but equal" school facilities—was ordered by the Supreme Court.

Finally, it took 58 years — from 1896 to 1954—before the third change was effected and compulsory segregation was declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court.

MR. BLOSSOM said that "When you look—in terms of the time required to change cultural patterns—at the slowness with which local laws are moved out of the way, and recognize the fact that the Supreme Court spelled out in its 'all deliberate speed' philosophy certain logical legal reasons for delay, one of which is 'local laws'," it was obvious that the high court anticipated in its rulings that local conditions would necessitate some delays.

Judge Lemley pointed out that the Supreme Court in its decision specifically recommended to lower courts that they use "practical flexibility" and shape their remedies "by a facility for adjusting and reconciling public and private needs."

Carefully analyzing the testimony of the school superintendent, the judge said:

"In the instant case it is not denied that under the Brown decisions (of the Supreme Court) the Negro students in the Little Rock district have a constitutional right not to be excluded from any of the public schools on account of race but the school board has convincingly shown that the time for the enjoyment of that right has not yet come.

That showing applies to the Negro students who were in the school last year as well as to others."

JUDGE LEMLEY'S opinion shows that he took account of the practical situation — the conflict between the predominant thinking in the community and the letter of the law. He declared:

"The incidents and other matters just referred to, plus the presence of the troops, which was in and of itself a distracting influence, created throughout the year a situation of tension and unrest among the school administrators, the classroom teachers, the pupils, and the latters' parents, which inevitably had an adverse effect upon the educational program and we find that said program was seriously impaired, that the orderly administration of the school was practically disrupted and that educational standards have suffered.

"We further find that unless a stay is granted, the same situation will prevail when school opens in September and that the impairment of the educational program and standards will continue, and will probably grow worse."

This presents a vexing issue for any review court to which the order now is taken on appeal. If the order is reversed, the remedy proposed by the district judge will be nullified completely.

Usually a reversal pending an appeal to the Supreme Court seeks to maintain the existing situation so far as is practicable without injury to either side.

If, however, there are no troops stationed at the school and the separation of the races is temporary — in what Supt. Blossom has described as a "tactical delay but not a surrender," with the object of securing desegregation—there is a chance for the processes of reason to be put into operation.

Plainly, there is less danger in delay than in the continuance of the state of affairs which in the past school year impaired the educational process at Central High School.

That's the basic issue, and if reason can be substituted on all sides for impatience and passion, a notable victory will be won that will resound throughout the world.

Piercing the Curtain

By Hal Boyle

STAMFORD, CONN.

The Iron Curtain seems more easily pierced by air than on the ground.

At least radio amateurs of the United States and the Soviet Union find it simpler to communicate with each other on a person-to-person level than do political leaders.

HAL BOYLE

Ham radio station operators in the two countries strike up ether wave friendships freely.

Perhaps a typical example of these new adventures in international understanding is the relationship between Frank Enge and Leo Shiskin.

ENGE IS supervisor of research and development for the American Machine & Foundry Co. electronics laboratory here. Shiskin is an electrical engineer in Moscow.

Aug. 11, 1956, they first made contact via ham radio.

After that they quickly became pen pals. Leo asked Frank for copies of American radio jou...als, and sent him copies of Soviet radio journals—also some Russian classical phonograph records for Frank's wife.

Frank congratulated Leo on the Soviet scientific achievement when the first Sputnik went aloft, and Leo replied in kind when the United States sent up Explorer I, adding:

That was the nearest the Russian ever came to a political remark, Enge said.

LEO SHISKIN lost his Soviet radio amateur license "for infractions of the rules," but never explained the nature of the violations.

Leo wrote that he made about 1200 rubles a month—the ruble is officially pegged at 25 cents.

"He also said that he only had to pay 50 rubles a month rent," Enge recalled, "but he had to share a communal apartment with four other families. The apartment had only one bathroom, one kitchen and one telephone.

FRANK wrote back that his own income was about $1,000 a month, that he had a five-room, two-bath apartment and owned two cars.

"This comparison may have made Leo unhappy, but so far he hasn't said so," remarked Enge smiling.

Enge estimated that perhaps 12,000 of some 160,000 American radio hams have made contact with Soviet amateurs.

"I think if the Russian people knew the American people, and we knew more about them, there would be no need for an Iron Curtain," Enge said.

Soviets Need Policy

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

The Soviet Communists, like the Devil, have been credited with diabolical cunning in planning every move. They look now like men who have been in a confused search for a foreign policy for five years.

Joseph Stalin was neither modern nor subtle. He could think only in terms of violence. This provided him with a simple philosophy at home and abroad. He used terror to keep the Soviet people and the satellites in line.

As for Communist expansion, he thought in the crudest terms: push where you think you can get away with it. For instance, the war in Korea, the pressure on Iran, Turkey, Greece, and the Berlin blockade.

BUT WHAT HE achieved was what he wanted least: a solid Western alliance against the Soviet Union and a view by neutrals that the Soviet Union was a symbol of the bogeyman. He had outlived his time.

He died in 1953 at the dawn of a new age: the atomic and hydrogen bombs and intercontinental missiles. His heirs had to accommodate themselves to both the new age and new tactics to offset the damage he had done.

To win over the neutrals, Nikita Khrushchev sought to give the appearance of a benevolent Soviet Union freed at last from the terror of purges and violent advances.

AS AN EXAMPLE of the new day—with the exception of secret police chief Lavrenti Beria who was executed — Khrushchev's rivals, like Molotov and Malenkov, were simply purged from their jobs. Unshot, they were banished to the provinces.

And the Soviet Union began economic help to the backward countries. At the same time Khrushchev had to find a way to soften the West and split its alliances by giving the appearance of a new, peaceful, friendly Soviet Union.

Hence his denunciation in 1956 of Stalin as a murderer and his suggestion—undreamed of in Stalin's time and anathema then and now to old-line Stalinists—that there are different roads to socialism—meaning communism.

THIS WAS INTENDED to woo back Yugoslavia, give the appearance of relaxation of Soviet control over the satellites, encourage Western nations to show less hostility to their own, native, homegrown Communist parties.

Meanwhile, Khrushchev in person bounced around Europe and Asia, talking good will. But all this, as it turned out, was not so much a well thought out policy as an experiment, and one which turned out ruinously.

The Poles and Hungarians, taking advantage of what they thought was relaxation, revolted. The latter had to be crushed by the Soviet army. Yugoslavia refused to be wooed back into the Soviet fold.

In short, the policy failed, and doubly so: the Western alliance did not disintegrate under Khrushchev's blandishments and unrest in the satellites continued, even though Khrushchev did make some progress with the neutrals.

APPARENTLY the Soviet Communists became frightened by the Khrushchev experiment. The purge was restored with the execution of Hungarian Premier Imre Nagy and one of his lieutenants.

This wanton act of murder shocked the world, including the neutrals. No doubt it was intended as a warning to any would-be rebels in the satellites. In one foul execution, the Soviet communists undid much of their work since 1953.

It proved what only the absent-minded could have forgotten, that the Communists are political cannibals who will feed on themselves and all others who get in their way.

Khhrushchev and his friends — who by their tactics have just about wrecked any chance of a summit meeting—appear at the moment to be in search of a new foreign policy.

Men vs. Other Animals

By Truman Twill

I was as puzzled as the dogs later turned out to be by a picture of a new comfort station for canines in New York City.

All I could think of when I saw the contraption was that whatever dog designed it had gone contrary to all of men's notions about the functionalism of a comfort station for canines.

What it looked like was a divided runway a dozen feet long, with a box of geraniums atop a four-foot-high divider, vaguely suggesting the curious arrangements for giving the two sexes the illusion of being miles apart in some of the primitive facilities once common at county fairs.

However, nothing had been said about keeping the canine sexes apart in this particular facility, which apparently had two runways only to double its usable capacity at any given moment, on the assumption that a dog likes a modicum of privacy with a maximum of comfort.

Any fool of a man could see at a glance why the thing would not work. But this fool of a man figured that the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals, of all outfits, would know what it was doing and had called in a panel of canine consultants. This was a wrong assumption.

The SPCA did not know what it was doing. Neither did the dogs when it was tried out. But they knew what they were not doing. They were not going to have anything to do with the contraption. They did not have the benefit of the publicity about its being a comfort station for dogs. To them, it was only a divided runway. Better luck next time, SPCA.

Try a row of blue spruce trees at $25 a tree, or a patch of Merion blue grass at a king's ransom for the seed and a minor miracle for the germination.

Better yet, set out a row of petunias in preference to the geraniums, which are four feet too high to be of any utilitarian value in the first place.

Or easiest of all, buy a dozen fireplugs and give them a fresh coat of paint.

The Wall Street Journal, which has been keeping close track of the SPCA project, went to the trouble of finding out exacty what happened when the first puzzled dogs were led through the runways. Nothing.

But down the street reports the Journal, there was a fireplug—and business was brisk there, as usual. Which goes to show that when men try to outwit animals they had better be smarter than the animals they are trying to outwit.

But it leaves unanswered the question why men try to outwit other animals, instead of taking advantage of what the other animals already know about the nature of a world in which everything is useful and some things are less useful than others.

Of what possible use is a geranium four feet off the ground?

News of Other Years

40 YEARS AGO — Italian armies on the Piave River front advanced beyond the line which they had held when the Austro-Hungarian forces launched their offensive 11 days previously. An unofficial report stated that the Austro-Hungarian army fighting in this sector had been annihilated or had surrendered, the Italian advances were so marked.

Lt. Clarence Young, an American aviator fighting with the allies, was taken prisoner by the Austrians.

The administration split wide open on the prohibition question, giving Congress divided counsel on the Hones "bone-dry" amendment. Urging defeat of the amendment were Postmaster General Burleson and Edward N. Hurley, chairman of the United States shipping board, while Secretary of Navy Daniels testified in behalf of prohibition.

20 YEARS AGO — The advancement of First Lt. Kenmore M. McManes, son of Mrs. Emma McManes of 368 Olney Ave. to rank of lieutenant commander in the United States Navy was announced from Washington.

A 28-year-old Radnor man, captured by Marion police two days previously after he allegedly molested two young girls near their homes just north of Marion, was charged with assault with intent to rape in Marion Municipal Court in an affidavit filed by the mother of another girl he also was accused of molesting.

Miss Mary Rita Murphy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. F. V. Murphy of 233 N. Prospect St. was crowned homecoming queen at a Junior Chamber of Commerce Dance at Rainbow Gardens.

10 YEARS AGO — Gov. Earl Warren of California accepted the Republican vice presidential nomination before cheering crowds at the GOP national convention in Philadelphia.

A Galion taxi cab driver was fatally injured when his cab collided with an automobile near Galion.

Born June 24, 1879, in Crawford County, she was the daughter of Henry and Mary F. Gerstenslager. She was married on June 21, 1901, to John C. Scheib, who died in March, 1946.

Surviving are a half-brother, Clarence Ledinsky of Detroit, and a half-sister, Blanche Ledinsky of Columbus.

Mrs. Scheib returned to Bucyrus from Parma 12 years ago. She was a member of Good Hope Lutheran Church and a life member of the Women of the Church. She also belonged to the Pythian Sisters and Eastern Star in Bucyrus and was a charter member of Parma Council 181, Daughters of America.

Services will be held at 2 p.m. Thursday in Good Hope Lutheran Church with her pastor, the Rev. E. J. Katterhenrich, officiating. Burial will be in Oakwood Cemetery. Friends may call tonight at the Lutz Funeral Home.

Traffic Claims 357,805 Lives in Last Ten Years

CHICAGO (AP) — According to the records of the National Safety Council, motor vehicle accidents in the last decade reached the unbelievable total of 91,050,000.

These accidents caused 357,805 deaths, disabled 12,500,000 with injuries and caused an economic loss of nearly 37 billion dollars.

During this time, federal, state and local governments have spent $58 billion to build safer roads and streets.

STAMP PICTURES CHURCH

BOSTON, Mass. (AP) — First church ever to be pictured on an official U.S. stamp will be Christ Episcopal of Boston, better known as "Old North Church," the spot where Revolutionary War hero Paul Revere began his famous ride. The picture goes on a new 25-cent stamp.

IT WILL INDEED

McALESTER, Okla. AP) — The entry of D. A. Bryce, former head of the FBI in Oklahoma, into the governor's race as a Democrat stirred interest at the state prison here. The penitentiary newspaper, The Eye Opener, commented his candidacy "will be greeted with much serious thought here."

Government Workers Greet Change in Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP) — Hawaii's government workers may be allowed to wear a genuine Hawaiian piece of clothing — the aloha shirt — to work this summer for the first time.

Gov. William F. Quinn, reversing the stand of his predecessor, says its okay with him if territorial employes wear the cool and colorful shirts on the job.

But he left a final decision in the sartorially hot issue up to individual department heads.

Woman Finds Bargain At Bazaar for Church

BARBABOO, Wis. (AP) — A local woman received a pleasant surprise after paying 10 cents for a pendant at a sale of costume jewelry donated to Trinity Episcopal Church.

She took the pendant to a jeweler who told her it was made up of garnets and diamonds valued at more than $200.

CHEERFUL THOUGHT

IRON RIVER, Mich. (AP) — The Junior Chamber of Commerce, trying to take the pain out of parking meters, plans to mount pots of flowers on metal arms fastened to the meters. Fresh garden flowers will be planted in the pots two or three times during the summer. In the fall and winter, the merchants will cheer motorists with artificial plants in the pots.

Blacksmith Still Plying Trade in Illinois Town

ROCHELLE, Ill. (AP) — Although the need for horseshoes has all but vanished, the village smithy still plies his trade.

Einar Schooning, who learned the blacksmith trade in Denmark before coming here in 1922 to join his brother, William, in the shop across from city hall, still uses the old forge which is nearly 60 years old.

Right now is Schooning's busy season — what with plow shares, farm machinery, lawn mowers and making handwrought iron work.

William Inge's Works To Get First Showing

NEW YORK (AP) — A group of five short plays by William Inge are to get their first public showing at the Standing Stone Playhouse, Petersburg, Pa., under auspices of Pennsylvania State University.

Production is to be by Max Fischer of the American Theater Wing staff. Included in the group are "Glory in the Flower," "Sounds of Triumph," "To Bobolink for Her Spirit," "The Tiny Closet" and "Memory of Summer."

A SHOWER HONORING Miss Shirley Irene Hoffman, a bride-elect of July, was given Saturday evening when her mother, Mrs. Paul T. Blair, her sister, Mrs. Kenneth Williams of Galion, and Miss Carol Burke entertained at the Blair home at 666 Irey Ave.

Gifts for the honored guest were arranged around an improvised altar. Steps led up to the altar and in the background were ribbons in her chosen wedding colors of aqua and white arranged in a fan shape. At the center of the altar were a miniature bride and bridegroom.

Bouquets of delphinium, coralbells and white peonies were throughout the room. Centering the refreshment table was a bouquet of roses and the aqua and white wedding colors were carried out in the wedding molds and cake.

Twenty - two guests were entertained. Those from out of town, were a great aunt of the bride-elect, Mrs. Lola Dague of Johnstown, O., Mrs. Genevieve Palmer of Johnstown, Mrs. Ruth Rengert and Mrs. Eda Wright of Waldo, Miss Pat Ogle of Columbus and Mrs. Kay McWherter of Delaware.

Miss Hoffman will become the bride of S-Sgt. Joe Pataine, stationed with the Air Force at Lockbourne Air Force Base in Columbus, on July 5 in Columbus.

A husband's party was held by Beta chapter, Y-Gradale sorority Sunday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Shoup on Edgewood Dr.

Members and guests enjoyed a potluck meal and games. Hostesses were Mrs. Erwin Blackford and Mrs. Melvin Lucas.

For the pleasure of Miss Patricia Pfeiffer, fiance of Richard Baldinger, Mrs. Rodney Baldinger entertained with a shower Wednesday evening at her home near Martel.

Prizes in games were awarded the honored guest and Miss Rosemary Pfeiffer. Table decorations were in mint green and white, the bride-elect's chosen colors. Centering the table were two cakes, one decorated as a bride in white and the other as a maid of honor in mint green. They were made by Mrs. Kermit Burkhart. Assisting the hostess was Mrs. Everett Douce.

Miss Pfeiffer and Mr. Baldinger will be united in marriage on June 28.

Annual guest day party of the Pleasant Farm Women's Club was held Thursday at the Trinity Lutheran Church south of Marion. A 1 o'clock luncheon was served to 15 members and their guests at tables decorated with arrangements of flowers, lighted candles and rose favors in the club colors of pink and green. The women of the church served the luncheon.

Hostesses for the day were Mrs. Emerson Dietsch and Mrs. Arden Groll.

A welcome to the guests was extended by Mrs. Delbert Lichtenberger. The program included the story of Naomi and Ruth from a book by Mrs. Nell Kulow, by Mrs. Lawrence Mautz; piano solo by Kristine Stein; short skit by Mrs. Ralph Hagar and Mrs. Sam Stein; reading by Brenda Bauer and an original poem by Mrs. Francis Warner in honor of Mrs. Jay Vaughn and Mrs. Jacob Bolinger who celebrated their 50th wedding anniversaries this month.

Contest winners were Mrs. Raymond Klingel, Mrs. Lowell Mitton, Mrs. Fredrick Bauer and Miss Patricia Schwaderer.

Guests included Mrs. C. J. Digman of Waukon, Ia., Mrs. Mitton, Mrs. Klingel, Mrs. Harold Demorest, Mrs. John Pasters, Mrs. Bauer, Mrs. Victor Culp and Misses Patricia Schwaderer, Janice Lichtenberger, Kristine Stein and Brenda Bauer.

Mrs. Lynford Lee Worden

Previous to her marriage on May 31, Mrs. Worden was Miss Virginia Lee Zeigler of Radnor.

Weddings

Wearing a gown fashioned of imported French organdy, Miss Virginia Lee Zeigler became the bride of Lynford Lee Worden, a private in the U.S. Army, on May 31. The wedding took place at 2:30 o'clock in the afternoon in the Radnor Baptist Church with the Rev. Carl Witt, former pastor there, officiating. Music was by Mrs. William F. Peebles, organist, and D. R. Jones, vocalist.

Fans of woodwardia fern in all white banked the altar, providing a background for pedestal bouquets of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. Lighted candles were in two seven-branch candelabra and bows and greenery marked the pews.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Zeigler of Radnor and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Spencer Worden of Swain, N. Y.

The elongated empire bodice of the bridal gown featured a scoop neckline and petite sleeves with a tiny bow accenting the bodice. The full skirt, embroidered with silk roses, was accented by front and back panels which flowed into a court train. The skirt was worn over an old fashioned hoop. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held in place by a cap of tiny illusion petals encircled with seed pearls. A drop pearl hanging from a tiny gold chain, a gift of the bridegroom, was the bride's only jewelry and she carried a cascade of Frenched mum petals with stephanotis and lily of the valley centered with a white orchid.

Preceding the bride to the altar were her sister, Miss Karen Zeigler of Radnor, as maid of honor, and Miss Beth Gaul of Akron and Miss Ada Grieser of Dayton as bridesmaids. Their gowns were fashioned alike of nile green organdy over taffeta. The fitted bodices were topped with round necklines and brief sleeves and the two-toned taffeta cummerbunds extended into back butterfly bows with streamers reaching the hemlines of the bouffant waltz-length skirts. They had large open crown picture hats of matching hairbraid, short white gloves and carried baskets filled with white daisies and maline poufs. The honor attendant's was of yellow daisies.

Ralph Bailey of Springfield served as best man for the bridegroom, and ushers were Charles Harsh of Columbus and Charles Brown of Logan.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Zeigler chose a sheath dress of fern green silk shantung with white accessories. Her corsage was of brown-beige cymbidiums. Mrs. Worden was attired in a navy crepe dress with white accessories and a corsage of jonquil yellow cymbidiums.

At the reception which followed in the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Richard McKibben of Radnor served as senior hostess. Assisting her as junior hostesses were Miss Glenna James and Miss Mary Thomas of Radnor, Miss Judy Lange of Lakewood, Miss Ruth Slaughter of Piqua, Miss Nancee Johnson of Wooster and Miss Judy Adams of Greenhills.

For a short trip to Cincinnati, Mrs. Woorden wore a two-piece navy dacron sheath dress with navy. and white accessories and the white orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. Worden was graduated from Radnor High School and is a senior in the school of nursing at Ohio State University where she is a member of Gamma Phi Beta social sorority and Torch Club honorary. She will resume her studies at OSU and graduate next June. Her husband was a senior in research chemistry at Ohio State prior to his recent induction into the Army. He is stationed with the 580th Engineers Co. in Germany. He was graduated from Canaseraga High School in Canaseraga, N.Y. and from Erie Institute of Technology in Buffalo, N.Y.

Out-of-town guests were from Ruthven, Ontario, Gary, Ind., Clearwater, Fla., Swain and White Plains, N.Y., Cleveland, Akron, Dayton, Lima, Cincinnati, Warren, Columbus, Prospect and Delaware.

The rehearsal dinner was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Harsh, uncle and aunt of the bride.

Identity Sought

WEST UNION, Ohio (AP)—Adams County sheriff's deputies are trying to learn the identity of a man who walked into the Peebles police station and said he could not remember his name. Investigators said the man, who arrived in Peebles Saturday, is about 5-feet-8, weighs 150 pounds, has curly hair and blue eyes, is 18-22 years old and has tattoos on his left hand and arm.

Richwood Area Couple Repeat Vows at Byhalia

Grace Chapel Methodist Church near Byhalia was the scene of the candlelight wedding Saturday, June 7, of Miss Linda Ann Longberry and Olen McAllister, both of near Richwood.

Baskets of white gladioli and shasta daisies, palms and lighted candles held in branch candelabra decorated the altar and marking the family pews were white satin bows with greenery.

Reading the ceremony at 7:30 o'clock in the evening was the pastor, the Rev. Charles E. Cramer. Miss Patricia Fields of Richwood, organist, and Dana Baker of Mount Victory, vocalist, presented the nuptial music.

THE BRIDE IS the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Starling Longberry and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Elihu McAllister.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of imported Chantilly lace and nylon tulle. The basque bodice featured a scalloped portrait neckline and long sleeves, tapering to tiny points over her hands. The full floor length skirt featured bands of lace and ruffled tulle and was worn over an old fashioned hoop. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was caught to a plateau of lace, iridescents and pearls with an unusual effect of a scalloped pearlized brim.

A pearl necklace, a gift from the bridegroom, was her jewelry and she carried pink rosebuds and white daisies tied with pink ribbon.

Maid of honor for the bride was a cousin, Miss Carol Cook of Milan, Mich., and bridesmaid was a sister of the bridegroom, Miss Peggy McAllister of Richwood. They were dressed alike in gowns of aqua shadow lace over taffeta styled with square necklines, tiny sleeves and large taffeta back bows, falling over panels of taffeta onto the ballerina hemlines. Their headdresses were aqua headbands with circular veils caught in the back with three tiny bows. Completing their costumes were white gloves, gifts of the bride, and they carried baskets of pink and white daisies.

WEARING A PINK taffeta dress and carrying a basket of pink and white daisies, Miss Robin Good of Dola was flower girl. To light the candles, Miss Cheryl Oberdier of Richwood was attired in a blue chiffon dress. She had a clip of daisies in her hair.

John Haas of Cincinnati served as best man for the bridegroom, and ushers were Larry Lingrel of Westerville and Edgar Goodwin of Wilmington.

Mrs. Olen McAllister

For the wedding, Mrs. Longberry wore a beige cotton lace dres and Mrs. McAllister was attired in a lavender silk print dress. Both had white accessories and corsages of white carnations.

The reception was held in the church reception room where the bride's table was centered with a four-tiered wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and bridegroom and encircled at the base with pink rosebuds and greenery. Completing the decorations were lighted white candles in silver candelabra. Serving were Miss Vada and Jeane Simpson and Miss Roberta McCullough.

Later, Mrs. McAllister changed to a red and white silk dress with white accessories for their wedding trip. Her corsage was the pink roses from her bridal bouquet.

Mrs. McAllister was graduated from Byhalia-York High School and attended Otterbein College. Her sorority is Sigma Alpha Tau. She is employed with the Whirlpool Corp., Marion Division. Mr. McAllister, also a graduate of Byhalia-York High School, is a student at Wilmington College where he is affiliated with Tau Kappa Beta fraternity. They are residing at 260½ Locust St. in Wilmington.

Out-of-town guests at the wedding were from Milan, Mich., Lima, Kenton, Tipp City, Canal Winchester, Upper Sandusky, London, Marysville, Wilmington, Columbus Dola, Urbana and Marion.

37 Marionites Attend Meeting Of 'Daughters'

A delegation of 37 Marion people, members of Marion Bethel 2, Job's Daughters, and adults, attended the 33rd annual session of the International Order of Job's Daughters Friday and Saturday at the Statler-Hilton Hotel in Cleveland.

Approximately 1,100 Job's Daughters and Council members were on hand for the two-day session for which Mrs. Evelyn Williams of Marion, grand guardian of Ohio, presided.

Ralph Harruff of Marion, who served as grand outer guard last year and is associate guardian of the Marion Bethel, was elected vice associate grand guardian of the state during the convention.

Mrs. Williams, as head of the state organization, had as her projects for the last year the Magnetic Springs Polio Foundation and the Eastern Star Home at Mount Vernon. During the convention, she presented checks for $800 to the Polio Foundation and for $200 to the Eastern Star Home.

Susan Eicher, honored queen of Marion Bethel, was escort for Mrs. Williams and also took part in the Saturday night installation in which honored queens of all Bethels in thes tate participated. In the convention session, Beth Campbell, junior past honored queen of Marion Bethel, escorted Mr. Harruff and Jill Howser, also of the local Bethel, escorted Mrs. Ruth Shellhorn. Mrs. Shellhorn, guardian of the Marion Bethel, served as grand second messenger during the last year.

Accompanying the girls from Marion were Mrs. Shellhorn, Mrs. Ralph Harruff and Mrs. Pauline Campbell. Also attending from here were Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Scheutzow, past grand officers.

At the banquet on Friday night attended by 659 girls, Carol Scheff of Marion sang "It's Almost Tomorrow" and in the Friday night opening Dianne Copeland of Marion sang "My God and I."

Traffic Parley Urges Vehicle Checks, Stricter Driver Tests

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Periodic motor vehicle inspections and stricter driving tests were among recommendations made Tuesday by some 300 delegates attending Gov. C. William O'Neill's conference on traffic safety.

The conference, discussing the needs developed by President Eisenhower's committee on Traffic Safety, called for legislation which would require vehicle inspections. The check would be made at least each year at licensed private service stations.

It was also urged that legislative action should require all youths under 18 to complete a course in driver training and should set higher education standards for driver education teachers.

Other traffic safety recommendations included:

All drivers whose licenses are under suspension should be reexamined before their licenses are reinstated.

More uniform traffic laws for municipalities.

Establishment of a state-operated safety center at a state college or university where research and traffic safety education could be carried on, and where all newly appointed police officers would be required to take a safety education course.

Slack Period Gives U.S. Steel Chance for Capital Expansion

NEW YORK (AP) — United States Steel Corp. is taking advantage of a slack production period to push a billion-dollar capital expansion program, biggest in company history.

Roger M. Blough, chairman, made the disclosure in reporting that directors have formally authorized a 300-million-dollar offering of sinking fund debentures. Proceeds will help finance the capital expenditures program, he said.

Blough said the decision to float the issue—one of the largest financing ventures ever attempted by an industrial firm—comes when Big Steel's continuous program of capital outlays is at a record high.

The expenditures still to be made at the beginning of 1958 on authorized projects, plus authorizations in the first half of this year, total more than one billion, Blough asserted.

"With these expenditures U.S. Steel is developing and bringing into production new sources of iron ore and other raw materials," he said.

Commercial Steel Plant To Resume Work on Tuesday

Regular production operations will be resumed next Tuesday at Commercial Steel Castings Co. following an interruption in work there after a 12-15 ton mass of metal plunged through the bottom of a furnace Friday night.

Company officials said today that a large percentage of employes whose regular jobs were halted by loss of the molten mass known as a "heat," have been working steadily to remove the solidified material, repair damage to electrical and mechanical equipment and rebuild the furnace interior.

"Loss of a heat is not uncommon in open hearth operations," a company spokesman said today and added that employes are to be complimented on the speed with which they have handled the repair work.

Operations were interrupted Friday night in all but the pattern shop and cleaning room at the plant.

Church Activities

Mrs. Gladys Fout and Mrs. Ethel Powelson were hostesses for a meeting of the Judson Circle of Trinity Baptist Church Thursday at the church. Thirteen members responded to roll call.

Mrs. Carl Uncapher conducted devotions reading from the book, "Mr. Jones Meets the Master," and offered prayer. A rummage sale was announced for Oct. 10 and an all-day sewing session was planned for July 10 at the church with a "sack lunch" to be served at noon. Tax stamps were counted and rags were sewed for ruggs.

Dessert luncheon was served by the hostesses with Mrs. Dail Gorman offering thanks. The September meeting will be with Mrs. S. W. Rinehart of near Upper Sandusky at which time devotions will be conducted by Mrs. Sylvia Lennon.

The Junior High BYF of Prospect Baptist Church met Sunday night at the church. Rickey Stose read the scripture and the Rev. Clayton Peaslee gave the meditation. Teddy Roseberry gave the topic, "Ten Tenths," assisted by Rockey Stose, Charles Isler and Nancy Isler. Refreshments were served by Teddy Roseberry and the Rev. Mr. Peaslee was in charge of games.

Boy in Galion Hospital After Kick by Horse

GALION—A 9-year-old boy was kicked in the stomach by a circus horse Tuesday afternoon and is in Galion Community Hospital today undergoing tests to determine the nature of his injuries.

The boy, David P. Lyons, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lyons, of Pine St., was with a group of other children watching the animal before the 4 P.M. performance of the R. W. Morris Circus, Tuesday when the horse kicked. Several of the other children fell down to avoid the animal's hoof, but David was struck.

He complained of a pain in his abdomen and said he was having trouble breathing when he was taken to the hospital.

The circus, which was sponsored by the Fraternal Order of Police, was supposed to have been here Monday, but was delayed in Wooster by state patrolmen who charged that several of the trucks had no licenses on them.

Another boy, who had gone to the circus grounds on W. Railroad St. Monday for the show, was injured when he fell during a friendly tussle with a group of companions. Richard Morrissey, 9, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Morrissey of N. Jefferson St., fractured his left arm in the fall. He also was treated at Galion Community Hospital and released Tuesday.

Radio and Television

By JOHN CROSBY

The Ads Are a Hit in Britain

LONDON

When the great rash of readers of his advertisement-less newspaper PM failed to materialize, the late Marshall Field remarked glumly: "I guess people just like advertising." The BBC might well echo that sentiment.

JOHN CROSBY

Commercial television is now two and a half years old and it's a smash hit. The BBC's lordly monopoly has been so thoroughly shattered that it has great difficulty competing at all with the commercial channel here. In fact, it's not fair to the programs.

For instance, the Phil Silvers show, which is on the BBC, hasn't gotten the audience it probably would have if it were on the commercial channel.

"Some people so resent the BBC they won't look at anything on it," an English journalist told me.

THE BBC is not taking it all lying down. It has lately begun to fight back with Hollywood-type fanfare and programs designed for popular appeal.

Now you can see Perry Como and Dinah Shore on the BBC and more showmanship is promised. But is this altogether a good thing? I frankly don't think so. To me, it's a chilling sight to see British television filling up with American filmed programs, especially an increasing number of our shoot-em-ups like "Wells Fargo" and "Wagon Train."

A week of judicious sampling of British TV, both BBC and commercial, is hardly enough to qualify me as an expert. Nevertheless, a few observations seem pertinent.

The one thing that forcibly strikes an American about British TV is its outspokenness. In the week I have been here there have been programs devoted to suicide and abortion, two very touchy subjects. Both were tackled very earnestly and with great candor. I don't recall that we ever embraced these two ticklish subjects on TV.

At various other times Granada, one of the commercial networks, has delved into such other tough subjects such as euthanasia and homosexuality with great thoroughness.

IN A LOT of ways British television reminds me of American television seven or eight years ago—not in its worst sense but in its best sense.

For one thing, British TV is still full of what we used to call actuality TV — that is, public events as they take place, not filmed for later consumption.

The British, still greatly bemused by their own pageantry, cover such things as the trooping of the colors live and in great detail. We'd be more likely to send a cameraman and boil the whole thing down to two minutes of film for the news shows.

With only two channels to choose from, there are still an awful lot of sports to see here. In a single afternoon, there was world's champion football (soccer), tennis (the Wightman Cup), horse racing, golf and—of all things—a swimming match on TV.

British news in general is very direct and incisive on television, matching its great reputation for honesty and respectability on radio.

There is something terribly clean-limbed both about British prose style and British delivery of the news which lends it credence. You somehow trust a news announcer (or news reader, as they're called here) who looks you in the eye so directly and speaks in such simple unadorned declarative sentences.

AT THE MOMENT BBC is runnign a series called "Portraits of Power" which are biographical documentaries about political leaders such as Mussolini or Mao Tse-tung.

About this I'm of two minds. The Mao program, which I saw, seemed to me a rather ordinary resume of old newsreel clips. The BBC trumpeted that it had some film of Mao's long march which never before had been seen anywhere. But the film was pretty bad and hardly worth the trouble.

Another "Portrait of Power" I saw was that of Harry Truman and this, I thought, was wonderfully interesting. There was nothing new in it exactly but it put Mr. Truman into historical perspective, the British viewing him with more detachment than we can.

On the other hand, we do their leaders better than they do. The Edward R. Murrow-Charles Colingwood interview of Prime Minister Macmillan did not, I understand, cause much of a stir in America but it cut an imposing swath in England.

Mr. Macmillan, I'm told, never before has been seen in such a good light on television.

Hit by Train, Boy Dies

NEWARK, Ohio (AP) — Two-year-old George Baker was killed and his sister's daughter, Catherine Crawford, almost 2, was injured Tuesday when they were hit by a Baltimore and Ohio freight train while playing along the tracks here. The victim's sister, Clydina Baker, 9, was fatally burned in a trash fire May 14.

Educators Cite Need To Bring Teacher Training Up to Date

BOWLING GREEN, Ohio (AP)—The training of the nation's school teachers must be overhauled to meet the growing and changing demands of the modern world, an organization of state education officials declared today.

The National Assn. of State Directors of Teacher Education and Certification said that if today's teacher is to meet these demands, his education must be broader and more intensified than ever before.

It emphasized that to attract and retain competent teachers, the public must spend more money to raise their salaries and improve their teaching conditions.

The association issued a six-point declaration of policy touching all phases of teacher education.

The policy declaration calls for:

Careful selection of prospective teachers from among the more capable college students.

At least four years of college for every beginning teacher.

A broad education for all teachers, with intensive study in the subject matter to be taught and thorough preparation in educational methods.

School districts to assign teachers only to subject matter fields in which they are adequately prepared.

A tightening of standards for colleges and universities which train teachers.

Reciprocity in teacher certification throughout the United States for graduates of approved institutions.

Association officials said some of these points are now in effect in some states. But they added that standards must be raised and enforced all across the nation.

Singer in Hospital

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Singer Roberta Linn is ill of pneumonia, complicated by an acute upper respiratory infection. Her condition was described as fair by Cedars of Lebanon Hospital.

Find Giant Squid

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — A giant squid, said to be the largest taken in this area, is being studied by scientists at the University of Miami Marine Laboratory. The 43-foot, 250-pound squid was found floating near Abaco Island in the Bahamas by a U. S. Fish and Wildlife Service patrol boat.

TV Highlights

TONIGHT

7:30, WLW-C, Wagon Train: At long last, the wagon train pulls into its destination—California—with many special guest stars on board. "The Sacramento Story" revolves around a pioneer named Maxwell Revere who has made the long trip to see the ranch he bought via long distance. Much to his surprise, he has been taken on the deal. Joining Ward Bond and Robert Horton will be Margaret O'Brien, Linda Darnell, Marjorie Main, Dan Duryea, Reed Hadley, George Chandler, Roscoe Ates and others.

7:30, WTVN, Disneyland: Repeat of "Duck for Hire." Furious at the Walt Disney studios, Donald Duck sets out to find a new job.

8, WBNS, Leave It To Beaver: Hilarity and devilment pervade the household when the Cleavers take in a weekend guest.

8:30, WLW-C, Father Knows Best: A gardener who grows beautiful plants—regardless of the consequences—complicates the Andersons' lives.

8:30, WTVN, Ozzie and Harriet: Ozzie agrees to take a group of small boys on a 14-mile hike, only to discover he must either break his promise to them or forego the annual Chamber of Commerce golf tournament.

8:30, WBNS, Playhouse: "Enoch Prentiss" starring Charles Bickford and Kathleen Crowley. A hard-hearted businessman finds he's not holding the upper hand when a blackmailer demands $25,000 in exchange for his daughter's reputation.

9, WLW-C, Mystery Theater: Robert Bray, Martin Rudy, Joseph Sullivan and Joan Copeland star in "87th Precinct," chronicle of the events leading up to and following the murder of an eccentric old woman who, over a long period of time, had made repeated calls to say that she was about to be murdered.

9, WTVN, Boxing: Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N.Y., meets Bobby Boyd of Chicago in a 10-round return middleweight bout at the Chicago Stadium.

10, WBNS, Circle Theater: "Twelve Cases of Murder," based on a true case from the files of the Railroad Police. On June 6, 1955, small-time gangsters rob a freight train of firearms. Not until three days later, when the train reaches its destination in Toronto, is the theft discovered. The story dwells on how the Railroad Police track down the culprits.

10, WTVN, Tombstone Territory: Clay Hollister and Editor Harris Claibourne become involved in a lesson in the code duello, but prove visitors must conform to the ways of the West to survive on the American frontier.

Infant Drowns

NASHVILLE, Tenn. (AP)—One-year-old Albert Hurt tumbled from his bed into a mop bucket full of water and drowned.

His mother Mrs. Albin E. Hurt, 17, said she was cleaning her three-room house when she decided to rest for a moment.

When she returned to the room 10 minutes later, she said, she found the infant head down in the bucket beside the bed.

It was Albert's first birthday.

New Governor Is Elected in South Carolina

COLUMBIA, S. C. (AP)—Ernest F. Hollings, a handsome Charleston lawyer and tireless campaigner, was named South Carolina's next governor Tuesday by a thumping 45,000-vote margin over Donald S. Russell.

At 36, he will be the state's youngest governor in modern times.

Hollings, named one of the 10 Outstanding Young Men of the Year in 1955 by the U. S. Junior Chamber of Commerce, won the Democratic primary nomination in a runoff election against Russell, 52-year-old former president of the University of South Carolina.

With nearly all precincts unofficially tabulated, Hollings had 190,163 votes to 145,263 for Russell.

The party designation in this traditionally Democratic state is tantamount to election. Republicans have not filed a slate for the November general election.

Request Granted

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Utilities Commission Tuesday permitted the Pennsylvania Railroad to abandon its freight station at Conotton in Harrison County for reasons of economy.

Parrott Notes Possible New Cure for Smut

More Experiments by Certified Seed Men Could Prove Theory

Loose smut is the culprit. It has caused wheat farmers in Marion and area considerable loss and concern in the last several years. And, its ravages are about ready to spring forth anew this year.

Ellwood Parrott, Marion County extension director, points out this week that the occurance of the disease cannot be predicted from year to year. Why? Primarily because weather has more than a little bit to do with the development of the organism.

The sad part about it all is that loose smut is one disease that cannot be satisfactorily controlled by using chemical seed treatmeat. Unfortunately, the seed harbors the organism within itself, making it impossible for a chemical to reach it.

Unpopular Control

For many years, a treatment known as the "hot water treatment" has been the most satisfactory way of combatting this organism. However, this method of control has been most costly from a time and labor point of view. Moreover, it oftentimes lowers the germination on the seed to a considerable degree. In consequence, this practice has not been popular, albeit the results have been somewhat successful.

Mr. Parrott notes that a new treatment has been developed that is easier to accomplish and which does not lower the germination to the same degree as does the hot water treatment.

Kept Secret

But, the secret of the treatment is being kept veiled for the present until certified seed producers get a chance to cooperate with the Ohio extension service in trying it out. If the treatment is found to be as satisfactory as experiments to date indicate, the exact procedure may later become common knowledge.

Therefore, Mr. Parrott suggests that interested certified seed dealers get in contact with his office for further details. Says he: "Wheat fields hit by loose smut this year already cannot be satisfactorily treated. But steps can be taken to treat seed to be planted for next year."

In a word, something new may be added soon to combat this disease. But, cooperation is needed to make its apparent potentialities pay off.

Rural Calendar For the Month

June 28-July 2, Junior 4-H camp, Camp Pittenger.

June 30, Progress meeting, Hi-Neighbor Days, 8 p.m., Memorial Coliseum.

July 1, Deadline for wheat acreage allotments.

July 14-19, Soil conservation camp, Camp Ohio in Licking County.

July 25, Sheep Day, Ohio Agricultural Experiment Station.

Aug. 2, Annual Ohio Beef Cattle Feeders picnic-barbecue, Wyandot County fairgrounds, Upper Sandusky.

Michigan State has two NCAA weight lifting champions in Joe Dewland at 132 pounds and Dave Norton at 148.

NEW SECRETARY. Meet Mrs. Jay (Betty) Alton of 295 E. George St., who is the new secretary in the Marion County extension office. Mrs. Alton succeeds Mrs. Warren (Joyce) Zachman, extension receptionist the last two years. The new secretary began work Tuesday and will be "chief cook and bottel washer" for Ellwood Parrott, extension director; John Nicholson, associate director; and Miss Gussie Smith, county home economist.

Farm Econogram

Here's Report on Prices and Economic Trends Prepared by Agricultural Extension Service

Food demand has continued strong so far during current recession and expected to continue fairly strong through remainder of year. Supplies of food generally expected to continue large although somewhat smaller than last year.

—:—

CCC price support program investment on April 1 was about $7.2 billion. Inventories accounted for $4.8 billion. Last year total investment at same time was $8.2 million.

—:—

Beef cattle outlook: Look for fed cattle prices to show gradual decline until well into summer. Now do not expect much seasonal late-summer recovery. Even so, prices not expected to be much different than last summer's peak. This outlook does not imply a price collapse even though there were 12 per cent more cattle on feed April 1 than a year earlier.

—:—

Downswing in cattle cycle may be ending. Should the total inventory number next Jan. 1 show a gain over 1958, it will mean the cyclical reduction will have lasted only two years, the shortest on record.

—:—

Gradual expansion in cattle herds is expected rather than an extremely fast one when it does come. This is based upon present known conditions and could be altered if conditions change. Remeber inventories were built quite rapidly in last expansion phase of cattle cycle from 1949-53. If expansion is gradual, look for prices and incomes for cattle to be sustained well the next several years when herds are being rebuilt.

—:—

Meat prices at retail have increased each month since November and were highest since October, 1952, but less than earlier peaks.

—:—

Ohio ranks 15th in live weight of farm production of cattle and calves; 11th for sheep and lambs; 6th for hogs behind Iowa, Illinois, Indiana, Missouri, and Minnesota.

—:—

Total winter wheat production now forecast at 1,010 million bushels, 43 per cent above last year and 19 per cent more than average. Soft red winter wheat expected to be up but not by so much—most of increase coming from farther west. Ohio production forecast at 42.7 million bushels compared with 32.9 million last year, an increase of 30 per cent. Ohio yields forecast to average 28 bushels per acre compared with 22 last year.

—:—

Peach crop in 9 leading Southern States for 1958 now looks the largest since 1947, up 43 per cent from last year.

—:—

Late spring potato crop estimated at 29.3 million hundredweight, three per cent below last year but 10 per cent above average.

—:—

Corn price support activities. By April 15 producers had put about 302 million bushels of 1957 crop corn under support compared with 398 million bushels of the 1956 crop and 366 million bushels of the 1955 crop. Of the 302 million bushels under support about 40 per cent came from farmers not in compliance with acreage allotments.

Dairy Breeds' Origin in U.S. Still Unknown

"June Is Dairy Month" and the responsibility for it all rests with the cows that comprise the seven dairy breeds.

There's an interesting thing about these cows. Did you know that not a single one of the popular breeds are native to the North American continent? It's true.

Each and every breed is descended from the wild herds that once roamed the desolate fields and marshes of Europe, Asia and England. In fact, the origin of "old bossy" is still a mystery, even after thousands of years of domestication.

When and where this domestication came about is still another time-lost secret. But it is thought to have transpired in prehistoric times. Fossil remains indicate the cow's existence on the European continent prior to the glacial period, but historians are unable to conclusively determine whether the breeds we are acquainted with today are descended from those or some others.

Suffice it to say that man has been associated with the dairy breeds many centuries. Somewhere along the line, somehow, the early descendents of the well known Holstein, Ayrshire, Milking Shorthorn, Brown Swiss, Guernsey and Red Poll breeds were domesticated and utilized for milk, meat and even work.

The cow's origination and early allegiance to the contrary, we today know full well her value and her merits and join with the nation in recognizing her contribution to our well being in this month set aside to pay tribute to dairying and the cow.

Registers Herd Name

Loren A. Fulton of near Caledonia, has been granted the exclusive use of the name "Nagold" as a herd title in registering his purebred Holstein cattle.

Robert Stevens and Clarence (Sonny) Means, assistants to Michigan State basketball coach Forddy Anderson, are former Spartan court stars.

'Hi Neighbor Days' Meeting Planned On Monday Night

A progress meeting for this year's "Hi Neighbor Days" celebration has been set for 8 p.m. Monday in the Memorial Coliseum. The session will feature reports from the several committee chairmen.

The meeting follows the initial get-to-gether May 19, during which Charles Might and Lloyd Calhoun were named to act as co-chairmen for the 1958 program. Joe Drake is secretary of the steering committee and Ralph White is treasurer.

No date has yet been set for this year's fete, although it was tentatively agreed at the earlier meeting that it be an event of September.

Whereas the 1957 program was set up without a backlog of funds, this year's committee has $425 in its treasury with which to "get the ball rolling."

Crawford Fire Claims Life of Third Victim

Harold L. Seibert, Father of 2 Children Killed Earlier, Dies

BUCYRUS —The father of two children who were killed in a fire at nearby Sugar Grove Tuesday morning died this morning in Bucyrus Community Hospital of burns he received in the blaze.

Harold Lloyd Seibert, 33, died at 3:35. He had suffered first, second and third degree burns over his entire body.

The blaze struck the small frame dwelling at the former resort area about 5 o'clock Tuesday morning. Two of Mr. Seibert's three small boys perished in the flames. They were David John Seibert, 7 weeks, and Ronald Earl Seibert, 6. A third boy, Larry, 8, escaped the fire with minor burns.

Mr. Seibert's wife, Evelyn, is still in Community Hospital being treated for the burns she received on her face and hands. She is in fair condition.

Meanwhile the state fire marshal's office determined Tuesday afternoon that an explosion in a wood stove in the house caused the blaze. What brought about the explosion was not determined. Neighbors told sheriff's deputies the Seiberts had been painting the interior of the house until 3 o'clock in the morning and the fresh paint and painting materials apparently helped spread the fire. The house was a raging inferno a few moments after the fire started, witnesses said.

According to one witness, Ronald had made his way to safety after the blast, but went back into the house, apparently to try to get water. His body was found near the kitchen sink.

A neighbor tried to get into the building to save the baby, David, but was driven back by the flames and suffered slight burns of the hand. He was not identified.

Crawford County Coroner Dr. B. P. Mansfield ruled that David died of incineration and Ronald of suffocation.

Mr. Seibert was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Seibert who reside in Allentown, Pa. He was married July 28, 1948, to Evelyn M. Shumaker of Bucyrus. The family belonged to St. John's United Church of Christ here. He was a self-employed tree trimmer.

Surviving are his wife, his one son, Larry, and his parents. One brother preceded him in death.

The two children who died in the fire are survived by their mother, their brother, Larry, and their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Seibert of Allentown and Mr. and Mrs. Walter Shumaker of Bucyrus.

The Lutz Funeral Home here will be in charge of funeral arrangements which are still incomplete.

Legislature

O'Neill's jobless benefit bill would also apply to discharged veterans who entered military service after Feb 1, 1955. Prior service work could be used in figuring benefits under the proposal.

Democrats said the amount of weekly jobless payments also should be increased to aid about 200,000 Ohioans now drawing benefits The weekly maximum now is $39 for a worker with a family.

Finance Director John A. Skipton said an extra six million dollars would permit state poor relief matching into February, a month after the 1959 Legislature convenes to deal with the problem

The state last March used up the 12 million dollars appropriated for poor relief for the bookkeeping year ending this month. More than 2¼ million dollars already has been taken from the 12 millions for next fiscal year to match county expenditures through April.

Figures showed that the number of Ohioans on poor relief doubled during the past year of the recession. The total may exceed 160,000 for May, compared with about 80,000 for the same month a year ago.

Extended jobless benefits are expected to ease the load. Officials figured 50,000 workers have exhausted their jobless benefits. But they guess that only half that number may claim extended benefits. The others got jobs or left the labor market, they estimate.

Michael V. DiSalle, Democratic gubernatorial candidate opposing O'Neill, had this to say about the special session in a prepared statement:

"Now that the governor has finally been prodded into calling a special session of the Legislature on expanded unemployment insurance, it is our hope that the legislators will be given the opportunity of a full discussion of the issues included in his call, as well as those others not included but which are important to the state of Ohio at the moment."

Besides SUB, he suggested action to provide more money for old age pensioners and schools, and legalization of some state appointments.

Senators will act on confirmation of about 80 appointments made by O'Neill since the 1957 Legislature adjourned a year ago. They include Dr. Robert A. Haines as director of mental hygiene and correction and Charles M. Noble as highway director.

SUMMER THEATER

CALUMET, Mich. (AP) — Plans are being made for a permanent summer theater here, starting this summer or in 1959. Producer-director Paul Barry of New York hopes to offer 11 weekly plays between June 17 and Labor Day.

Union Leader Asks Adoption Of SUB Plans

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. C. William O'Neill and the Ohio Legislature, which opened its special session today, have been urged to have existing supplementary unemployment benefit (SUB) plans go into effect at once.

The plea came Tuesday from James B. Carey, president of the International Union of Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers.

Carey said the governor could instruct the attorney general to seek court permission to withdraw the state's appeal on the SUB suit now before the Ohio Supreme Court, thus validating SUB in Ohio. He pointed out that two lower court rulings favored SUB

"Additional course which you, as governor, can take," Carey said in a letter to O'Neill, "if this matter is placed on the agenda of the present special session, would be to support vigorously a resolution . . . that the present law does not preclude the payment of supplementary unemployment benefits."

Asks Okay on Noble

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—Gov C William O'Neill asked the Ohio Senate today to confirm his appointment of Charles M. Noble as state highway director.

The appointment is among about 80 on which the Senate will act during the special session.

Log of Ancient Vessel Tells of Justice at Sea

SUMMIT, N.J. (AP) — The schooner Iris of New Bedford, Mass., plied the Atlantic and Pacific some 20 years before the American Civil War. She was captained by George B. Spooner.

Spooner's granddaughter, Mrs J. M. Rose, has the ship's log. Much of the Iris' time was devoted to whaling but the men weren't too busy to stay out of trouble.

On one occasion, Spooner wrote: "At 4 p.m. a disturbance arose between the mate and one of the boatswains. He gave some most abusive language. Likewise, he clinched the captain and struck at the mate "At 5 p.m. put the gentleman in irons and put him in the run for safekeeping. It is hard but fair."

The Rev. Russell Frew, who recently returned from four years of missionary work in Brazil, will conduct a special missionary service at 7:45 p.m. Thursday in the Pentecostal Church of Christ on Fountain St.

The Rev. Mr. Frew will show slides of his missionary experiences. He expects to return to Brazil for another four-year tour of duty in July.

Adams

they intended to question Goldfine on that point.

The subcommittee's general inquiry is directed toward the question of how federal regulatory agencies have operated and whether they have been subjected to outside influences.

East Boston Corp. Probed

The particular case it has pursued with SEC involves the failure of the East Boston Corp., controlled by Goldfine, to file required financial reports in the 1948-54 period. SEC eventually took the matter to court and in 1956 the company was fined $3,000.

After Harris sent Armstrong from the witness chair, it was taken over by Baldwin Bane, former head of SEC's Corporate Finance Division.

Bane testified nobody in or out of government ever asked him to do or refrain from doing anything with regard to his official duties.

Testifies on Calls

"I did have calls, from persons in an out of government, asking that some examination or action be expedited," Bane said. "I did have such calls also from people telling me for what it was worth, that they knew someone with business before the commission and had a good opinion of him."

Plan Questioning

Representatives John E. Moss (D-Calif), John Bell Williams (D-Miss) and John B. Bennett (R-Mich) all said Goldfine would be asked when he testifies next week about a report that he paid a hotel bill for Federal Judge William T. McCarthy of Boston.

But Moss cautioned against drawing any hasty conclusion that would undermine public confidence in the courts. Rep. Morgan Moulder (D-Mo) said the courts are not directly connected to the subcommittee's assigned task of looking into operations of federal regulatory agencies.

McCarthy's name entered the inquiry Tuesday as one of the judges in a lengthy case aimed at forcing the East Boston Co., a holding company owned mainly by Goldfine, to file financial reports required by the SEC.

Disqualifies Self

McCarthy disqualified himself after Goldfine was brought personally into the case. The judge said he had once served as attorney for Goldfine.

The congressmen are investigating whether preferred treatment was involved in East Boston's failure to file financial reports from 1948 to 1954 as required by the SEC. After a lengthy court hearing, the firm was fined $3,000 in 1956.

Adams has acknowledged contacting the SEC about the East Boston case in February 1956, but denied seeking special treatment for his old friend Goldfine. SEC chiefs said they pushed the case without favor both before and after the White House contact.

McCarthy, a Truman appointee to the U.S. district bench in Boston, was reported by Bennett to have had one hotel bill in New York and one in Boston paid by Goldfine. Bennett said one of the Goldfine favors occurred before the East Boston case came to McCarthy's court and another afterwards.

Declines Comment

McCarthy declined to comment "without knowing what I'm commenting about."

Goldfine said through a lawyer, Samuel P. Sears, that in February 1954 he paid a $60 hotel bill for McCarthy at the Waldorf Astoria in New York and strongly refused any repayment from the judge. This was weeks before SEC decided to pursue East Boston in court. Sears denied that Goldfine paid any other hotel bill for McCarthy.

Marion Firm Wins Bid for Bridge Design

The county commissioners today announced they have retained the Marion firm of Tozzer and Associates to design a bridge and approaches on County Rd. 66 over the Little Scioto River.

Commissioners said they employed the firm on its fee proposal of 6½ per cent of the detailed estimate of construction costs. The firm will design two types of bridges and the county will choose the one it deems most suitable, the commissioners said.

No detailed estimate of costs can be made until after the bridge design is completed. An earlier preliminary estimate listed the cost at about $91,000.

Construction of the bridge under the federal road improvement program was given final approval by the Federal Bureau of Roads last month.

The Marion firm was one of four that conferred with the commissioners and County Engineer Reed Ours on the project. Others were Hatch, Samborn, Steketee and Associates of Toledo; Arthur T. Handel and Associates of Newark, and the Columbus office of Baker Engineers of Rochester, Pa.

The Toledo firm submitted a fee proposal of 8.4 per cent of the cost of the construction program. Exact proposals of the other firms were not available today. The commissioners said, however, that Tozzer and Associates submitted the best proposal.

In addition to designing the bridge and the approaches, Tozzer and Associates will furnish plans and specifications, conduct test borings and other preliminary field work, the commissioners said.

Commissioners said the firm indicated it would complete the bridge designs by the first part of August. The plans and specifications must be submitted to the highway department by September, the commissioners said.

Lebanon

Chamoun's pro - Western government.

Would Take Huge Force

Military experts estimate it would take 5,000 men to seal the 150 - mile mountainous frontier with Syria.

Rebel opposition already is hampering the observers' efforts to check border traffic. One of the most powerful rebel leaders in the mountains barred the observers from territory he controls.

"Our rebellion is a purely internal affair in which the United Nations has no concern," Kamal Jumblatt said Tuesday.

The gaunt, hook-nosed leader of the Druze sect of mountaineers was interviewed at his village stronghold 16 miles southeast of Beirut. He is one of 17 leaders charged by the pro-Western government with inciting terrorism and rebellion. Other rebel chiefs have been similarly defiant of the U.N. group.

Fears Massive Attack

The rebels have been trying since May 10 to overthrow President Camille Chamoun's government. Chamoun said rebel forces were massing in three areas and he feared heavy attacks were imminent.

Chamoun conferred for 40 minutes with U.N. Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold, who was scheduled to fly back to New York today. He arrived in the Middle East Thursday for talks with officials of Lebanon, the United Arab Republic and the U.N. observation group sent to Lebanon two week ago by the Security Council to look for intervention from the neighboring Syrian province of the U.A.R.

Claims Aid

Chamoun charged that U.A.R. aid to the rebels has increased lately. If Lebanon is unable to cope with rebel attacks, he said, it will ask the Security Council for a police force.

The Soviet Union warned against an international police force or any other foreign intervention from the West. The official Soviet news agency Tass accused the United States and other Western nations of planning to send troops into Lebanon "under the guise of the United Nations or without any cover at all."

The United States and Britain were reported hoping that Chamoun's government would not call on them for direct aid but would be able to quell the rebellion with its own forces.

More Rainfall Forecast Tonight and Thursday

It was rain again Tuesday. .01 of an inch officially, as summer, in its first week of existence, offered little respite from spring's dreary weather conditions.

The mercury rose to a high of 80 in spite of the clouds, dropped to an overnight low of a sultry 62, then climbed to 74 at noon today, a scant four degrees shy of the day's expected high of 78.

The weatherman predicted clouds and scattered thunderstorms tonight and Thursday and an outlook for cooler temperatures Thursday.

A low of 66 is expected tonight with an anticipated high of 75 on Thursday.

Delaware Sesqui Will Begin Friday

Week-Long Celebration Planned by County, City for Birthday

DELAWARE — Delaware city and county, in the heart of Ohio, are putting the final touches on plans for a gigantic birthday celebration which begins Friday and runs through July 4.

Two dances are scheduled for Friday night in honor of the Sesquicentennial queen and her 11-member court. A record-breaking parade is set for 2 p.m. Saturday in downtown Delaware.

BOTH DELAWARE city and county were organized in 1808, seven years after the first settlers arrived on the banks of the Olentangy River.

A gigantic spectacle, "Footpaths to Freeways," with a cast of 500, will be presented six nights at the Delaware County Fairgrounds under the direction of the John B. Rogers Co. of Fostoria. The pageant includes 15 episodes depicting history from the time of the Indians.

Special features of the program include the explosion of an "atomic bomb," complete with mushroom cloud and the launching of a "Delaware Sesquicentennial satellite." A fireworks display will conclude the spectacle nightly.

For months past, Delaware County men have been sprouting beards and forming chapters of the "brothers of the brush." Women are getting into the act too with their sunbonnets and old-fashioned dresses and their Sesquibelle clubs.

PIONEER costumes will be in style throughout Sesqui week.

Delaware merchants will open festivities Friday night with old-fashioned bargain days, which continue Saturday. Merchandise will be displayed on sidewalk tables and downtown stores will resemble those in which the early settlers traded.

Charles P. Taft of Cincinnati will speak at religious heritage day services Sunday at 8 p.m. at the county fairgrounds.

Activities next week include special Youth Day activities Monday, beginning at 8 a.m. with a bicycle race, followed by a pet parade, field day events at Mingo Park, family picnics and a street dance.

Tuesday will be devoted to labor and industry with tours of the various Delaware plants scheduled.

WEDNESDAY is Ladies Day and the activities include a flower show, cooking school, "White Collar Luncheon," style show and the holding of a Ladies Kangaroo Kourt.

Homecoming Day will be observed Thursday. A family picnic is slated at 5 p.m. at Mingo Park and will be followed by the homecoming parade at 7 p.m.

Friday, July 4, is American Heritage Day with a special American Heritage Memorial Program on tap before the presentation of the historical pageant at night.

PREPARE FOR SESQUI. Mrs. Russell Tone of Delaware and her daughter Linda Sue, 9, curtsey for the camera in their sesquicentennial get-ups. The Tones, like all Delaware Countians, are planning to attend the big Sesqui celebration which opens in Delaware Friday and runs through July 4.

Ditch Petition Hearing Is Set

Engineers To Give Estimates on Cost

A hearing on a petition for improvements to the Blum Run ditch northeast of Marion is scheduled for 10 a.m. Thursday in the county commissioners' office.

County Engineer Reed Ours is expected to introduce new cost estimates for the proposed improvements and the commissioners also are expected to receive a petition of protest.

Improvements being sought include installation of a 27-inch tile for 2,000 feet north from the ditch origin at Fairground St. with provisions for an overflow ditch or flood swail.

Although the city's sewer master plan calls for installation of an 87 by 136-inch tile in the Blum Run, attorneys for the petitioners said the cost of such a tile would be prohibitive to the property owners and that the 27-inch tile, with the flood swail, would be an adequate "substitute for interim relief."

fic for some time. It was reopened before dawn and apparently was not seriously damaged.

The blazing oil bathed the Manhattan and Brooklyn waterfronts with brilliant light as thousands watched from piers and nearby buildings.

Dramatic and heroic incidents took place during the rescue operations.

Dive Into River

Patrolman Richard Gazzola and a 16-year-old passer-by, Candido Santiago, dived into the river when they saw two seamen floundering 200 feet out. They held the seamen afloat until a tug pulled them all aboard and landed them at a pier. All four were taken to a hospital.

The fireboat William J. Gaynor, first on the scene, rescued many of those aboard the Nebraska, among them three women. One of the three was a 27-year-old radio operator, and the others were the wives of the first and second engineers of the Swedish ship.

The Gaynor sailed through the flaming oil slicks to the side of the burning Nebraska. Dozens of crew members leaped from the Nebraska onto the fireboat. Eleven crewmen stayed aboard, however, and manned the ship after flames were brought under control. She was taken to berth at a pier.

The fireboat was damaged and its engine room flooded to waist level before it was docked.

City Officials To Discuss Fire Fighting Facilities

Members of the Marion City Council and representatives of the city administration will meet with a three-man survey team from the National Board of Fire Underwriters in City Hall tonight.

The survey team is making a study of city fire fighting equipment and facilities and will prepare a written report on their findings.

Purpose of the meeting tonight is to discuss various aspects of city fire protection with the city officials.

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, Senate Democratic leader, is backing the five-year extension but some of his Democratic colleagues who are supporting the trade legislation apparently are wavering.

Sen. Russell Long (D-La), a member of the Finance Committee, which is considering the bill, predicted that the Senate will approve no more than a three-year extension.

damaged by a barrage of rocks, sticks and ink bottles. Stones smashed windows at the Danish Embassy.

All three demonstrations were in retaliation for protests staged at Soviet embassies against the recent executions of Hungarian ex-Premier Imre Nagy and three other leaders of the unsuccessful 1956 Hungarian revolt.

Press Stirs Trouble

In each case the Soviet press told of the demonstrations abroad just before the protests were staged here.

When newspapers told today of the demonstrations at the Soviet U.N. offices in New York, U.S. Embassy personnel immediately began preparing for trouble.

The Americans evacuated the ground floors of their building. Minister Richard Davis called on the Russians for extra police protection.

Hoses Ready in Case of Fire

Hoses were laid out in the downstairs halls for use in case of fire.

Windows were covered with cardboard.

Eight U.S. Marines, normally on duty on the top floors, were transferred to the ground floor corridors. Furniture on the two lower floors was moved out.

Russian employes were given the day off.

A total of 150 Americans, including the wives and children of diplomats, live in the embassy building, mainly in apartments on the middle floors.

Another 50 embassy families are housed elsewhere in Moscow, as are the 12 American news correspondents in Moscow and their families.

There was no expectation among Westerners in the Soviet capital that embassy people themselves would be endangered by any demonstration.

Giant Combine in Making

Hoffa, Bridges Forge Transport Federation

By VICTOR RIESEL

So fascinating is the daily raising of the vicuna curtain that most of the citizenry have been wool gathering and have overlooked some recent power plays. Teamsters chief Jimmy Hoffa — and his new partner, the left-wing Harry Bridges.

VICTOR RIESEL

While folks have been counting overcoats, the unions led by these two angry men have signed a pact which could, some day, paralyze this nation with a joint strike reaching from the mid-Pacific to islands in the Atlantic.

These unions, the Teamsters and the Pacific Coast Longshoremen, have agreed not to sign separately with shippers or warehouse owners. They have agreed that if one union strikes, so will the other. They have agreed never to make a separate peace with employers.

This entente-cordiale could stretch their power from the great concentration of military command posts in Hawaii to the Brooklyn Army port of embarkation which feeds our bases eastward to Saudi Arabia and northward to the Arctic.

THE PACT, with its secret codicils, for the moment covers only California. But both Teamsters and Longshoremen officials agreed in their secret hotel room sessions that this would be the first test of the country's reaction to a deal beween a union ousted from the AFL-CIO on charges of corruption and another union, the dockwallopers, ousted in 1949 from the CIO on charges of following the Communist line.

The pact was signed with the full knowledge and approval of Jim Hoffa who has met personally with Harry Bridges' aides in the past. At the closed door conferences on the West Coast earlier this week were Hoffa's personal representatives, specially flown in from New York and Washington.

These lieutenants will fly back to New York next week to report to Hoffa on the progress of this first public move towards building the giant transport workers federation which Hoffa warned last year would soon girdle the land.

At almost the very moment that West Coast Teamsters were negotiating directly with Harry Bridges, other aides of Hoffa were coordinating their plans with the East Coast International Longshoremen's Assn., which was also ousted from the AFL in 1953 for being racket-dominated. The Teamsters and the eastern ILA are planning a drive to unionize the Great Lake and Canadian waterfronts.

THESE ARE the meetings we know of on the record. There have been some 14 to 20 secret sessions in New York, Denver, Los Angeles, San Francisco, Washington, Chicago and intermediate points over the past three years. All these forces have at one time or another conferred face to face.

The fact is that with the new pact, the basic agreement will show that the Atlantic Coast dockwallopers, the Teamsters in warehouse field which feeds the docks with vital cargo, and Bridges' Pacific Coast Longshoremen, have agreed that they will strike at the same time if a walkout is needed to force employers to yield on demands. If you look closely, you'll see that most contracts at the vital warehouses and docks expire at the same time now.

Mutal assistance agreements are supposed to mutually assist. Against whom? Here's what Harry Bridges said in San Francisco during the last week of July 1957—shortly after Hoffa first revealed his plans to spread-eagle a giant transport federation across the U.S.:

"THERE IS one thing I know, if the Teamsters and the two dock unions got together, they'd represent more economic power than the combined AFL-CIO. They are so concentrated.

"An economic squeeze and pressure can be exerted that puts any employer in a very tough spot—and, furthermore, puts the U.S. government on a tough spot.

"If the AFL-CIO meets us head-on, we'd knock the stuffings out of them. We'd fight on their own ground and win."

Forget the charges of corruption and left wingism, for the moment. Even if the leaders of these unions were as pure as driven vicuna, they already represent the greatest concentration of industrial power in the land.

The recent Hawaiian sugar strike, led by Bridges, cost the islands more than 65 million dollars. With the aid of the Teamsters, the Bridges' union now could shut off any airlift to the island outposts — if the teamos refused to haul stuff from warehouses. With the ILA in the combine, it could hit anywhere along the Great Lakes and out to Puerto Rico.

So while you're counting overcoats, don't discount this development. It will be with us longer than this year's supply of vicuna.

Buckeye Girls State Leaders Take Offices

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Gov. Sandra Gordon of Canton and state and county officials of Buckeye Girls State will be sworn in today by Chief Justice Carl V. Weygandt of the Ohio Supreme Court.

The officials and legislators were elected Tuesday by the 806 high school - age girls attending the week-long course in self - government sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary at Capital University here.

The officials will operate a mythical two-party 49th state made up of two counties, each having nine cities. The state will function until Sunday.

The inauguration banquet will be held tonight. Speakers will include Ohio Gov. C. William O'Neill and Justice Weygandt.

Five other state officials were elected beside Miss Gordon. They are:

Mary Pat Smagola of Lakewood, lieutenant governor; Joy McKitrick of Toledo, secretary of state; Nancy McKinstry of Lancaster, auditor; Susan Trimble of Columbus, treasurer, and Myra Newman of Shaker Heights, attorney general.

The girls are divided into two parties, the Nationalists and the Federalists.

Miss Gordon represented the Nationalists but the Federalists won control of the House of Representatives and also won four of the six state offices. Besides the governor, only Miss Trimble, the treasurer, is a Nationalist.

Laurane Thurston of Rt. 1, Custar, a Federalist, was named speaker of the House, and Sara Hunsicker of Akron, a Nationalist, is House minority leader. Miss Thurston is the daughter of State Rep. Gilbert Thurston (R-Henry).

Thirty-six senators — two from each of 18 mythical cities—and 72 representatives were elected.

Galion

The Rev. Rutherford E. Everest officiated for the double ring ceremony when Mrs. Vera Malone and Martin Beckel exchanged marriage vows at First Presbyterian Church Friday, June 20, at 8:30 p. m.

Mrs. Harriett Ebert was organist. The guests were seated by Dean Sherman, son-inlaw and Donald Halsey, nephew, of the bride.

Mrs. Dean Sherman was her mother's matron of honor, and the Misses Carole and Ruth Beckel, daughters of the bridegroom, were bridesmaids. The bridegroom had his son, Robert Beckel of St. Petersburg, Fla., as his best man.

Following the ceremony, 100 guests were received by the bridal party at a reception in the parish house social rooms. Hostesses were Mrs. William Halsey, sister of the bride, Mrs. Richard Crim and Mrs. Eugene Crim, sister-in-law of the bride, and Mrs. John Skums, niece of the bride. The guest book was in charge of Mrs. Marion Moyer.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Levi Crim of near Galion, and the late Mr. Crim. She is dietary supervisor at Galion Community hospital. Mr. Beckel is a silver plater and buffer, employed at the Marion Plating Company, Inc.

The couple is residing at 550 S. Market St., Galion.

Rotary Hears Professor

Educational Systems Compared by Speaker

Since the launching of Russia's first Sputnik there has been a new evaluation of the Russian educational system by citizens of this country. However, many making this re-evaluation went from the extreme of regarding Russian education as completely inferior to education in this country, before last October's "awakener," to a chaotic cry that America could never reach or surpass Russia again in education after the Reds went into orbit.

This new emphasis on comparing the educational systems of the two countries—Russia and the United States—was the basis of the talk given by Prof. Russell E. Baycliff at the Tuesday noon luncheon meeting of the local Rotary Club held at Hotel Harding.

THE SPEAKER who is chairman of the depeartment of sociology at Ohio Wesleyan University, called his discussion, "What Our Colleges Can Contribute to Defense Against Russia.

He emphasized that neither Russia nor the U.S. has all the answers, as far as education is concerned. However, he did say that, in his opinion, this country can produce the number of qualified engineers and scientists needed and still maintain the college emphasis on the liberal arts program.

Prof. Baycliff explained that the Russian form of government gives that country a certain advantage in maintaining the required number of technicians. America, with its freedom of choice, is not able to dictate to its boys and girls what they must study and what career they must choose, he added.

Another advantage held by the Russians, in this top-speed missile-race age he said, is the fact that a small group of top men there can launch a program without waiting for approval from the people or agencies involved.

In this country, it is the policy of our leaders to confer with representatives of the people, or with the people directly, before beginning a new program which involves the lives or happiness of the nation's citizens.

IN DEALING briefly with the histories of the two educational systems, the speaker further noted that heretofore in this country education was thought to be a community affair. Thus, progressive ambitious communities have maintained schools of high standards, whereas, other communities, have been lax in educating their youth. More and more, he continued, it has become necessary for state and federal aid to help raise the standards of and provide better facilities for these second - type schools.

Wilson Tway, program chairman for the month, introduced the speaker.

A new member, Francis W. (Mike) Hamper, was welcomed into the club by Vernon Street, president. Mr. Hamper is operating vice president of the General Telephone Co. of Ohio.

Guests presented by E. Stewart Norris included one visiting Rotarian, Harry Swepston of Wilkesbarre, Pa. Other guests were Dr. Joe Costantini, a major in the Army Medical Corps stationed at Ft. Bragg, N.C.; Milton Pohler of St. Louis, Mo.; and V. G. Russell of Delaware.

Traffic Patrolmen Hunt for Escapees

Squad cars from Marion, Bucyrus and Mansfield state highway patrol posts were dispatched to the Galion area early this morning to be on the lookout for two walkaways from the Mansfield Reformatory.

One of the escapees, identified as Homer Buchanan, 19, has relatives in Galion and Marion and it was believed he and his companion may be headed in this direction.

Patrolmen of the local post said the men were reported missing from the prison about 8:30 a.m. today. They apparently made their escape from a work gang outside the walls, officials said.

The other escapee was identified as Walter Spaeth, 20. No home address was listed for either man. Information on the sentences they were serving and the charges also was not available.

Patrolmen issued the following description of the men: Spaeth, height, 6-4; brown hair and brown eyes; weight, 154 pounds, and Buchanan, height, 5-9; weight, 164; black hair and blue eyes.

City Settles Two Suits Out of Court

Two damage suits filed against the city last November in connection with a traffic accident involving a city truck have been settled out of court, Common Pleas Court officials reported today.

The suits, totaling $8,400, were filed by Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy B. Yoeman of 521 Olney Ave. The plaintiffs alleged Mrs. Yeoman suffered neck and back injuries in an accident at the intersection of E. Center and Greenwood streets on June 20, 1956.

According to their petitions, Mrs. Yeoman had stopped her husband's eastbound auto at a traffic light when a city truck driven by Harmon H. Starcher struck the car from behind.

Mrs. Yeoman sought $7,850 in damages and Mr. Yeoman filed suit for $550 for his wife's medical expenses and damage to his auto.

The plaintiffs were represented by the law firm of Mickley, Frericks and Howard and the city was defended by City Solicitor Riley Hall.

Galion Man Takes Post With Firm in Indiana

GALION — Robert D. Wiseman of Galion, well known in local and area activities of the Kiwanis Club and associated with the North Electric Co. here for a number of years, is taking a new post with Henkels and McCoy, a contracting and engineering organization in Elkhart, Ind.

Mr. Wiseman will be manager of systems engineering and equipment installation effective July 1. In his new post he will direct all activities in sales, engineering, installation and maintenance of communications apparatus.

At the North company here Mr. Wiseman was manager of the company's telephone division and had charge of directing sales, engineering and installation activities. He is past president of the Kiwanis Club of Galion and past lieutenant governor of Kiwanis in north central Ohio.

The Wiseman family will continue to reside in Galion.

Several Factories at Bucyrus Will Close Soon for Vacations

BUCYRUS—Approximately 2,250 employes in this city's major industries will be taking from two to three weeks vacations starting Friday, a survey indicated today.

About 700 will be vacationing at the Swan Rubber Co. The shutdown is effective June 30 through July 5 during which time inventory will be taken. Limited operations will resume July 7 with full production resuming, July 14.

The 600 employes of the Timken Roller Bearing Co. plant and shipping center here will be on vacatiin from June 28 through July 13. Inventory will be taken during the vacation period.

The General Electric Co. lamp works and glass plant here will close July 3 and re-open July 26, with more than 50 per cent of the company's' 350 employes here being eligible for three-week vacations.

Plants to close Friday and resume July 14 include: Ohio Locomotive Crane Co., Thew Shovel, Superior Equipment, Ryder Brass Foundry and Crawford Steel Foundry Co.

The 120 employes of the Shunk Manufacturing Co. will be on vacation next week with work resuming July 8.

Operations at the Galion Iron Works and General Hydraulic Co. will be suspended July 2 and resume July 14 while the 65 employes of the Bucyrus Garment Co. will be on vacation from June 30 through July 7.

No general plant shutdown is planned by the Huber-Warco Corp., Cobey Corp and Bucyrus Blades as vacation periods are staggered.

Delay Is Encountered In Pool Construction

ELMHURST, Ill. (AP) — Due to circumstances beyond control, the construction schedule for Frank Padista's swimming pool has been delayed.

Workmen, with bulldozer poised for action, found a nest of baby rabbits in a hole in the 16 by 34-foot area where the pool is to be built.

"We feel it's a good luck omen," said Mrs. Padosta, "so we want to hold off until the half dozen bunnies can shift for themselves."

Galion Council Acts To Begin Improvements

GALION — A special session of Galion City Council Tuesday night took action to speed up improvements in the city. Council passed an ordinance authorizing the issuance of notes in anticipation of the issuance of bonds for sewer and street paving improvements in the amount of $125,300.

The projects and their costs are as follows: Mackey Lane sanitary sewer, $5,800 17th District trunk sewer, $11,500; street paving projects as follows: Ash St., $10,500; Oak St., $11,000; Pine St., $18,000; Park St., $18,500; Center St., $5,000; Westgate Dr., $15,000; Edgewood Dr., $26,000, and Bel Air Dr., $3,500.

A resolution was adopted authorizing Service-Safety Director Paul Willhelm to employ the services of the engineering firm of Shaffer-Perrott and Associates of Mansfield to prepare plans for the Galion-Crestline Airport. The project includes the construction of runways, taxiways and aprons. The work will be financed by federal funds.

A second resolution authorizes the proper city officials to make application for the exemption of real estate taxes on parcels of land in North Bloomfield and Washington townships in Morrow County adjacent to the Amann Reservoir site. The property is used only as a park facility, city officials said, and should be exempt from taxes. Officials said that this year the city paid $231.96 in real estate taxes.

Redlegs Suffer Twin Defeat at Hands of Dodgers

Two Extra-Inning Losses Drop Cincinnati to Fourth

CINCINNATI (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts was happy last Monday when he said his Cincinnati Redleg pitching staff could match nearly any National League team.

But he had no way of knowing that all his pitchers and hitters couldn't out-hurl, outslug or outlast the Los Angeles Dodgers the way it happened Tuesday night.

Los Angeles went all out in a 10-inning scoring rampage to beat the Reds, 13-10, in the opener of the twi-night doubleheader. Some crafty pitching and a five-run outburst made the difference in the 7-2 Dodger victory in the 11-inning nightcap.

Knocked From Third

It knocked the Reds out of the league's No. 3 spot.

The Reds got some hitting, but not enough. They spent both games trying to catch up.

The Dodgers had a two-run lead in the nightcap before the Reds could connect with anything useful off starter Bob Giallombardo. Duke Snider blasted a homer in the fourth and so did Gil Hodges in the fifth.

When the Reds got moving in the sixth, it was started by a homer from Walt Dropo, the big former American Leaguer acquired on waivers earlier in the day.

The Reds finally pulled even, 2-2, in the seventh when George Crowe's safety brought in a run.

But the Dodgers jumped on starter Bob Purkey in the 11th with a five-run, five-hit outburst that sank the Reds.

Charlie Neal's single and Jim Gilliam's double around a sacrifice got the scoring parade started. Snider's single accounted for another marker and the scoring was polished off by Hodges' two-run double and Don Zimmer's single.

Koufax Stops Threat

In the Redlegs' half, Don Hoak, Smoky Burgess and Ed Bailey collected walks to fill the bases. But Sandy Koufax, who had won the first game in relief, took over and squelched the threat.

The opener was a wild slugfest in which the Dodgers twice blew comfortable leads before clinching the issue.

In the 10th inning, Hodges whacked a two-run homer that provided the victory blow. Catcher Joe Pignatano followed with another homer for good measure.

The Rhinelanders had twice tied up the score. A three-run second inning got Redleg scoring started with Crowe tripling, Hoak beating out a hit and Bailey doubling in the first run. Gus Bell smacked a two-run single.

But Cincinnati couldn't catch up, 6-6, until the fourth on another three runs. Bell doubled, Dropo and Johnny Temple walked to jam the bases. When Bob Thurman was hit by a pitch, one run was forced in and Jerry Lynch came up with a two-run double.

Elmer Valo's homer in the sixth accounted for three Dodger runs and another run came in the eighth.

The Reds cut down the lead with one run in the sixth, and a two-run Red uprising in the eighth tied it up, 10-10.

The last game of the Dodger series here is tonight with Redleg Harvey Haddix hurling against either Don Drysdale or Fred Kipp.

Moulders, Elks Post Victories

A pair of Pony-Grad baseball games were played Tuesday night on Lincoln Park field, with the Moulders fashioning a 1-0 shutout victory over the Eagles and the Elks turning back the Moose, 10-2.

The Moulders scored one run in the fifth to break the pitchers' duel between their Moody and the Eagles' Dulin. All told, the victors got one run on four hits.

The Eagles nicked Moody for four safeties but could turn none of them into runs.

Elk stickmen banged out 10 runs on 10 hits to shade the Moose, 10-2. Larkin was on the mound for the win, giving up two runs on five hits. Beaver hurled for the Moose and was charged with the defeat.

Rolling to the win, Elk runners crossed the plate twice in the first inning, three times in the third, twice in the fourth and three more times in the sixth. The Moose tallied once in both the first and the fifth frames.

Keller, Elks third sacker, was credited with a two-base hit.

Reds Sign Catcher

CINCINNATI (AP)—Larry Rancourt, standout Holy Cross catcher, has signed with Cincinnati's Redlegs for a substantial bonus, Redlegs officials said. Tuesday night the Shelbourne Falls, Mass. native will report to the Reds' Seattle farm team Friday.

NEW REDLEG FIRST SACKER. Walt Dropo, veteran major league first baseman, was acquired by the Cincinnati Reds Tuesday from the Chicago White Sox. This was Walt's first appearance in a Redleg uniform as Cincinnati played host to the Los Angeles Dodgers in a twin bill. Dropo drew a walk on this occasion, his only appearance at the plate in the first game, but walloped a home run in the second tilt. Dropo looks on as Dodger backstop John Roseboro goes after a ball that got away from him. The Dodgers finally took this game, 13-10 in 10 innings, then captured the nightcap in 11 frames, 7-2. Invitational Meet Scheduled July 13 By Local Bowmen

The Blackfeather Bowmen, Marion archery club, will hold an invitational shoot July 13 at the club's range southeast of town. Registration will start at 9:30 a.m., with the first competition slated to get under way at 10.

This will be a classification match with instinctive shooting with field or target arrows of any kind.

Adult registrations will be $1.50 with children 16 and under, $1.

A total of 10 members must be present to make a team eligible for competition. A team trophy will be provided, plus prizes for individual marks. A 28 field will be fired in the morning, with the 25 broadhead set for afternoon action.

Prizes will be given for first, second and third place in the Expert A, Expert B, bowman (men), archer and novice categories. Awards for first and second place will go to women bowmen and archers, juniors 13 to 16 inclusive, and cadets 6 to 12.

Refreshments will be available. The range is located on County Rd. 154, just off Rd. 153, about 8.9 miles southeast of town.

A 56 target round was held Sunday, with Al Roach and Don Brown leading the Expert A shooters. Roach had an 828 and Brown scored a 680. Tom Clark led the Expert B round with a 548. Chuck Butcher was second with 545, and Ed Angus third at 451.

Leading the bowmen was Lewis Layton, 565. Harold Trout was second, 467, and Larry Wuescher third, 397.

Marge Layton paced the women with a 277. Anne Clark was second with 260, advancing her to the bowmen class, while Jean Wuescher was third with a 119. Connie Clark shot a 463 in the cadet division.

Signs With Royals

CINCINNATI (AP) — Johnny Powell, 6-foot-1 former basketball guard with Miami University, has signed to play pro basketball with the Cincinnati Royals. Powell, 22, scored 405 points last season.

Bosox Clip Indians on Infield Boot

CLEVELAND (AP)—It's an old baseball saying: "You may be a hero one day and a bum the next." Vic Power went through the star-to-goat cycle in the space of just a few minutes Tuesday night.

The Cleveland Indians were on their way to a 3-2 victory—all on the strength of Power's big bat which had boomed a home run, double and two singles and knocked in all the Tribe runs. Suddenly the Boston Red Sox pushed across two runs in the ninth inning for a 4-3 decision.

Power Becomes Goat

The goat was Power, usually a sure-fielding first baseman who booted a sharply-hit grounder by Lou Berberet. There was a runner on third base and two were out with the score tied 3-3.

"I never even got my glove on it," Power said later. He said the ball hit his knee.

Young Gary Bell, Cleveland rookie right-hander, started off as though he meant to blow the Red Sox out of the stadium. He whiffed nine batters through 6 1-3 innings. Boston got to him in the sixth for one run on four singles. Another run was saved when Jackie Jensen failed to score from second on a line single by Berberet to left. Minnie Minoso charged the hit and threw a bullet to the plate. Jensen came in standing up and catcher Russ Nixon slapped the ball on the surprised Red Sox outfielder.

Indians Score First

The Indians had scored first on Power's single following hits by Larry Doby and Minoso in the opening frame. With the score tied 1-1 in the sixth, Power unloaded again—with a tremendous homer over the left field fence, scoring Gary Geiger ahead of him.

Boston made it 3-2 in the seventh when a pitch by Hoyt Wilhelm, who came in to relieve Bell, got away from catcher Dick Brown, and Marty Keough scored from third.

Then came the disastrous ninth. Jensen's sacrifice fly to right, with the bases loaded, tied the score, and Berberet's hit off Power's knee brought in the winning run from third.

Dempsey, 63, Sees Need For Clean-Up of Boxing

SANTA MONICA, Calif. (AP)—"Boxing will have to clean up its own affairs the way baseball did," Jack Dempsey told an interviewer Tuesday — his 63rd birthday.

"It might be better off with some sort of national czar or commissioner, but since that's unlikely, it must take care of its own police work."

The former heavyweight champion said he thinks the scarcity of good fighters is due to the disappearance of small neighborhood fight clubs.

Team Sports Exempt

House Bill Grants Antitrust Immunity

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top professional sports officials today hailed the House vote to grant to baseball and other team sports sweeping immunity from the nation's antitrust laws.

The bill would enable professional teams to continue long-established practices such as player drafts and baseball's reserve clause. It also would give clubs more authority over television and radio broadcasts of games.

Cover 4 Major Sports

The same standards would cover all the big four team sports—baseball, football, basketball and hockey.

The House passed the bill by voice vote Tuesday. The Senate still must act.

"The bill, if passed, is one that all sports can live with, but it is in no sense a license," said Baseball Commissioner Ford Frick.

Similar praise was voiced by National Football Commissioner Bert Bell, Minor League Commissioner George Trautman and Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League.

Celler Plan Rejected

In passing the measure, the House turned down a bill sponsored by Rep. Emanuel Celler (D-NY) and approved by the Judiciary Committee. That bill would have exempted professional sports from the antitrust laws only to the extent that their practices were found "reasonably necessary" for the sport to function. Critics said the legislation would create a chaotic condition and deluge teams with law suits.

The House-passed bill says, in effect, that only strictly business activities—things like stadium and concession operations—are subject to antitrust prohibitions against monopoly and business restraints.

Calhoun To Battle Boyd in TV Clash

CHICAGO (AP) — Rory Calhoun of White Plains, N. Y., and Chicago's Bobby Boyd, a couple of ranking middleweights, meet tonight in a 10-round nationally televised bout in Chicago Stadium.

Calhohn, 23, scored a two-ronnd TKO over Boyd, 24, in New York last November.

Boyd, who has a 48-8-3 record, is ranked eighth by both the NBA and Ring Magazine.

Calhoun is expected to be a solid 2-1 favorite.

ABC will telecast at 9 p.m. EST.

Yankee Relief Pitcher Nails All-Star Berth

CHICAGO (AP)—Casey Stengel, New York Yankee manager who will lead the American League All-Stars against the National Leaguers next month, declines to disclose any of his selections.

But when the name of Yankee relief pitcher Ryne Duren was suggested, Ol' Case said:

"I'd have to be crazy not to pick him."

A Comiskey Park crowd of 27,845 would have to agree with Stengel after watching the 29-year-old right-hander save a 6-2 victory over the Chicago White Sox Tuesday night.

Duren came on to relieve Bob Turley in the seventh inning with two on and one out. The Yanks led 6-2 but Stengel was taking no chances. Duren struck out the first man he faced and then got the next on an infield bounder. He struck out the side in the eighth and fanned two more in the ninth.

Duren, rapidly becoming one of Stengel's favorites, has now worked in 32 2-3 innings — all in relief. He has struck out 50, walked 15, allowed 15 hits and has a won-loss record of 3-2.

Cards Sink Pirates, Move Into NL's Runner-Up Spot

By The Associated Press

Those St. Louis Cardinals, finding a new hero for each series, have slam-banged into second place in the National League race on a monthlong ride from the depths.

It was Joe Cunningham's late-inning belts that gave the Cards a split in four games at Cincinnati last week. Then it was Ken Boyer's bat that beat the first-place Braves in two of three at Milwaukee over the weekend. And now it's Curt Flood doing the job against Pittsburgh.

The 20-year-old center fielder, with four hits in Monday's success, killed the Pirates again Tuesday night, breaking up Ronnie Kline's shutout bit with a two-run homer in the ninth for a 2-1 victory that extended St. Louis' winning string to four.

The Cards are .002 percentage points ahead of the San Francisco Giants, who skidded to third with a 2-1 defeat at Milwaukee.

In the other NL games, rookie John Briggs won his first in the majors with an eight-hit shutout as the Chicago Cubs defeated Philadelphia 3-0. The last-place Los Angeles Dodgers swept a tough twi-night pair at Cincinnati, winning 13-10 in 10 innings and 7-2 in 11.

Warren Spahn, who had lost three in a row, pitched a three-hitter against the Giants, getting the runs he needed on a pair of homers, Ed Mathews' 15th and Joe Adcock's ninth. Stu Miller (1-4) lost it.

Briggs, 24, a right-hander with a flock of bone chips in his elbow, struck out six and walked four — blanking the Phils on two hits over the last five innings. Al Dark's single, a sacrifice and an error gave the Cubs the big run in the sixth off Jack Sanford, now 5-6. Rookie Sammy Taylor hit his fourth homer, with one on, in the seventh.

Green Camp Falls In No-Hit Shutout

RADNOR — Teddy Coonfare recorded a no-hit mound gem here Tuesday night in hurling Radnor High School to a 10-0 decision over Green Camp in Marion County League play.

The Trojan hurler struck out 12 batters and gave up only three bases on balls. His mates backed his performance with a nine - hit attack.

Ralph Garrison was the top threat at the plate for the Trojans. He banged out three base hits to account for four of the runs. Dick Gearhiser pounded out a triple for Radnor's only extra base hit.

Flach, the losing hurler, struck out six of the Radnor batters. The win was the Trojans' fourth straight in league play and left their perfect record unblemished.

Independents Clip Mac's 2-1, Take Over First Place in Loop

The Marion Independents moved into sole possession of first place in the Commercial League softball race with a 2-1 victory over Mac's Trading Post Tuesday night at Garfield Park.

In the other game last night, Trinity Lutheran recorded its first win of the year by clipping the Marion Merchants 6-5 in a nine-inning battle.

Sherm McKinniss and Bud England locked horns in a mound duel with first place at stake. England held the Independents to a pair of base hits but McKinniss scattered the five hits collected by the Trading Post batters. None of the hits came in the same inning.

More Sports On Page 24

The Independents pushed over their first run in the opening inning when Jim Riley reached first on an error. He stole second and then moved to third on a passed ball. Bob Saull, who collected both of the Independents hits drove him home with a single. The second run for the winners came in the fourth when Saull doubled and came home on an infield out and an error.

Merl Daum collected two of Mac's hits, a double in the second and a single in the fourth. Dick Roseberry had a single in the first inning and Don Williams singled in the sixth. England blasted a home run in the fifth for the only run.

England finished with nine strike outs and walked one. McKinniss struck out eight and walked two.

The Merchants grabbed an early lead scoring a run in the first inning on a walk and an error. They added three in the second on four walks, an error and a double by C. Gruber. Their final run came in the sixth on two walks and an error. All of the Merchants' runs came on just two hits with Jim Kunkle, the losing hurler, getting the other safety.

Trinity opened its comeback in the fifth with a single tally on hits by Gary and Jim Seiter. Hits by Sharrell Leffler and Lundquist added a run in the sixth and the winners knotted the count at 5-5 with three in the seventh. Three errors and a hit by Dutt accounted for the rally. The winning run came home in the ninth on an error and a hit by Lill. Charles Leffler was the winning pitcher.

Defense Post Filled by Able Administrator

DES MOINES (AP)—A hawk with a butch haircut—that's Leo A. Hoegh, chief of the new Office of Defense and Civilian Mobilization.

The 50-year-old former Iowa governor was named by President Eisenhower Tuesday to the $25,000-a-year combined agency job.

Since he was named civil defense administrator a year ago, this energetic Midwesterner has carried to Washington his hawk-like habit of heading straight for target.

Actually, Hoegh's name (pronounced "Hoyg") means hawk in Danish. His adversaries will tell you the name fits. Hoegh likes a good scrap.

This trait has endeared him to his friends. He gives and receives loyalties with singular intensity.

As a boy, Hoegh shined shoes in the Danish community of Elkhorn, Iowa, where he was born—"a nickel for oxfords, a dime for high shoes with mud on them."

Not long out of the University of Iowa, where he studied law, he was elected to the state legislature at the age of 28. After three terms came four years of war duty, a stretch of legal practice in Chariton, Iowa, and then appointment as state attorney general. In this job the young lawyer with the close-cropped hair became widely known.

In 1954 Hoegh was elected governor. He was an aggressive administrator and tangled several times with his Republican legislative majorities. Some in the party did not weep when he was defeated in 1956. None, however, challenged his integrity.

When he left the statehouse in early 1957, Hoegh said he wasn't interested in a federal job. He accepted the civil defense post last July, however, and old-timers in the federal Civil Defense Administration say he has been a real sparkplug.

Worker Dies of Burns Suffered in Oil Well Fire

COSHOCTON, Ohio (AP)—James Neil Wolfe, 21, of Route 1, Zanesville, burned in an oil well fire Tuesday afternoon, died today in Memorial Hospital here.

Wolfe and Gene Dalton, 36, of South Zanesville, suffered burns when a liquid pressure system backfired at an oil well, spraying a mixture of oil and sand over machinery which ignited the blaze.

Wolfe suffered burns over his entire body. Dalton was burned about the hand when he tried to tear burning clothing from Wolfe. Both men were truck drivers for Halliburton Oil Cementing Co.

The fire caused an estimated $200,000 damage. Capt. Harold Honabarger of the Warsaw Volunteer Fire Department, said four trucks, a company car and other drilling apparatus was destroyed.

The accident occurred on a farm in northwest Coshocton County between New Castle and New Guilford.

New Pastor To Assume Duties at Upper Church

UPPER SANDUSKY—First Lutheran Church's new pastor, the Rev. Charles Steward, will be installed Aug. 24 at a 4 p.m. service conducted by the Rev. R. W. Stackel, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church in Akron.

The Rev. Mr. Steward was born in Rochester, N. Y., and was graduated from West High School there in 1951. He attended Wittenberg College at Springfield, was graduated in 1956, and last May 18 was graduated from Hamma Divinity School at Springfield. He was ordained May 21.

The Rev. Mr. Steward's wife is the former Lucille A. Ustler, of Springfield. They have two children, Mark Stephen and Marlene Ann.

New York Stock Market

NEW YORK (AP)—Stock market prices were mixed in moderate trading this afternoon. Selected stocks were active. Most pivotal issues showed fractional changes. Some more active stocks showed wider gains or losses.

The market was irregular at the start and continued that way. Wall Street analysts saw the market in a consolidated phase following last week's renewed climb to new highs for the year.

Economic background included the Commerce Department report that sales and production for industry have leveled off to a point about 15 per cent under the 1956 yearend rate.

Oils, aircrafts, electronics and airlines showed a lower tendency. Steels, chemicals and building materials were a bit higher. Motors, base metals, rubbers and rails were mixed.

American Motors was in demand and ahead fractionally. Penn-Texas added about a point in brisk dealings.

Union Oil of California was down about two points and Gulf Oil down about one.

Lorillard rose around a point. International Business Machines clipped three points from its high price.

U.S. government bonds were steady.

Gerald L. Benson and Joseph W. Benson, sons of Mrs. Mary A. Benson of 328 Silver St., recently enlisted under the Marine Corps' "120 day delay" program.

Both men were given up to 120 days to report for active duty. They will report for duty on July 17.

Gerald and Joseph were graduated this year from Marion Catholic High School.

Pfc. Vernon R. Heimlich, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Heimlich of near Cardington, recently participated in the All Army Show at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Pvt. Heimlich is regularly assigned as a trumpet player with the 4th Armored Division Band in Germany. He is a member of the band's male quartet which won a first place in European competition recently. He was stationed at Ft. Knox, Ky., and Ft. Hood, Tex., before being assigned overseas.

Sgt. 1-c Clarence A. Snyder, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Snyder of Bucyrus, recently participated in a physical fitness test conducted by the Seventh Army near Baumholder, Germany.

A squad leader in Co. A of the 8th Division's 12th Infantry, he entered the Army in 1946 and arrived in Europe in October, 1956. The 28-year-old sergeant attended Galion High School and is a former employe of Galion Allsteel. His wife, Edith, is with him in Germany.

Two Marion youths recently completed Marine Corps recruit training at Paris Island, S. C., and spent 15-day leaves here with their parents. They are Pvt. Charles L. Schaeffer, son of Mrs. Charlotte Schaeffer of 541 Hane Ave., and Pfc. Glenn A. Dickason, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard F. Dickason of 541 Avondale Ave.

During recruit training, Pvt. Schaeffer qualified as an expert with the M-1 rifle by attaining a score of 220 out of a possible 250. Pfc. Dickason was promoted to his present rank for outstanding leadership abilities and marksmanship with the M-1 and the .45 caliber pistol. He fired 226 to qualify as an expert with the rifle.

Pvt. Schaeffer was to report to Norfolk, Va., to attend the Marine Corps Sea School after his leave. Pfc. Dickason was scheduled to report to Camp LeJeune, N.C., for further transfer to a construction unit with the Third Marine Division in the Pacific.

Both are 1957 graduates of Harding High School.

Pvt. David A. Crokie, son of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Crokie of Bucyrus, recently completed the 12-week intermediate speed radio operation course at the Army Armor Training Center, Ft. Knox, Ky.

Pvt. Crokie was taught Morse code, and was trained to operate and maintain various types of radio equipment under all conditions. He entered the Army in January and received basic combat training at Ft. Knox. Before entering service he attended Bucyrus High School and worked for the Cobey Corp.

Lana Turner Will Tell Of Stompanato's Death

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Lana Turner is expected to tell today of events the night her sweetheart Johnny Stompanato was stabbed by her daughter Cheryl, 14.

The deposition is to be taken in the office of Atty. William J. Pollack, who represents the dead man's son, John Stompanato III, of Hammond, Ind., in a civil action for $750,000 damages.

Defendants in the suit are Cheryl, Miss Turner and the girl's father, restaurateur Steve Crane.

Boy, 12, Submits Feasible Plan for Flight Into Space

WASHINGTON (AP) — The National Science Foundation has on file a detailed plan, submitted by a 12-year-old boy, for shooting a man into space for two weeks and bringing him back alive.

A top Pentagon scientist says the proposal "has all the elements of a workable system."

It came from Jonathan Orovitz of New York City, son of a department store owner. He is a seventh grader in a "special progress" class at school.

The boy's plan is peppered with technical terms.

Jonathan did not seem very excited when he heard about the developments in Washington.

He is more than a rocket theorist. He's built and shot off several small rockets of his own.

He reads a lot of technical books but belongs to no organized rocket society.

Hit by Own Car

FRANKFORT, Ky. (AP) —Lewis Aldridge, 65, was hit three times by his own car. As he was backing it from his farm yard he fell out. The car, he said, kept going in circles, and each time he tried to get up, it hit him again. Witnesses dragged Aldridge out of the way and stopped the auto. He suffered four broken ribs.

Singer Asks Divorce

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Singer Kay Starr has filed suit for divorce from her fourth husband George A. Mellon, wealthy real estate and oil man, charging cruelty. They were married 13 months ago.

How To Hold FALSE TEETH More Firmly in Place

Do your false teeth annoy and embarrass by slipping, dropping or wobbling when you eat, laugh or talk? Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. This alkaline (non-acid) powder holds false teeth more firmly and more comfortably. No gummy, gooey, pasty taste or feeling. Does not sour. Checks "plate odor" (denture breath). 564 Registered This Year

Record Number of Boy Scouts To Attend Camp

When Boy Scout Camp Owens opens its gates for the summer camping season Sunday afternoon it will be greeted with the largest number of campers in history.

Robert LaFollette, camp director, reported today that advance registrations have reached the all-time high of 564. Ninety-six youngsters are expected for the first week session which already has been closed to further applicants.

Only the fifth camping period, July 27-Aug. 2, still has openings for additional registrants, the director pointed out. He urged that boys and troops interested make application as soon as possible.

Staff members are working at the camp site this week, readying buildings and other facilities for use throughout the summer period.

New to this year's program are boating, outpost camping, burro packing and considerable recreation equipment.

Canoeing will be made possible by the addition of an artificial lake on the camp grounds, Mr. LaFollette said. Swimming again will be offered in the camp pool where new hot water showers have been installed. New recreation equipment includes rifles, fishing rods and reels, bows and arrows and a canoe.

Staff members announced today by the director are: Peter Ayer of Prospect, aquatics director, assisted by John Grundtisch of Upper Sandusky; Robert Denise of Bucyrus, field sports director; Ted Pollock and Raymond Fry of Fremont, scout craft directors; Paul Layman of Pandora, provisional scoutmaster, and James Wilson, chaplain.

ASSISTANT program directors are Robert Rhoads, Dennis Dickerson, Geegg Nicolosi, and Wayne Kelly.

Camping periods are: June 29-July 5; July 6-12; July 13-19; July 20-26, and July 27-Aug. 2.

Cost of each session is $12 if boys are accompanied with their scout master. Otherwise the fee each period is $16, Mr. LaFollette said.

Police Reports

Nancy Kunkle of 641 Mt. Vernon Ave. reported that two hub caps valued at $16 were stolen from her car. She said it was parked on the shopping center lot at W. Center and Oak streets when the hub caps were taken.

Large Display Of Fireworks Set at Galion

GALION — A fireworks display, larger than in former years, will climax an all-day celebration of the Fourth of July in Galion. It will be the fifth annual observance sponsored by the Galion Lions Club. Haise park will be the center of all activities.

Wrestling matches, rides, concessions, ball games, a swimming meet and other attractions will be packed into the 12-hour program, it was announced today by the general chairman, Harry Rogers.

Concessions will be open as early as 10 a.m., at the park. There will be kiddie rides, pony rides and food stands.

Four ballgames will be played, starting at 11 a.m., and continuing in the afternoon. These will see action by teams of the Little League, Babe Ruth and Little Sox leagues, and the Junior Legion team.

Nearly 50 prizes are being offered by Lawrence Daly who is conducting the swimming meet in the municipal pool.

The wrestling matches are slated for 8 p.m., Mr. Rogers said.

It will be Leon Graham versus Buddy Austin in the main bout.

The preliminary match will see George White Owl, an Indian, versus Bill School, 45 minutes, two falls. Two women wrestlers are billed for the second match of the evening. They are Elaine Ellis and Mary Alice Hillis. This match will be 45 minutes, two falls.

The fireworks, estimated to cost approximately $500, will follow the wrestling show.

Fall Fatal to Woman

CLEVELAND (AP)—Mrs. Linda Kitson, 63, suffered fatal head injuries when thrown from a tractor on which she was cultivating corn Tuesday at the 80-acre truck farm she and her husband, Willis, operated in nearby Walton Hills.

Baldauf, National City Bank, Baker Wood Teams Nail Wins

In a trio of Little League baseball games played Tuesday night, Baldauf shut out Whirlpool, 2-0, and Baker Wood clouted Empire, 5-2, in Federal loop play, while National City Bank took a 3-2 win over Isaly's in American League action.

Baldauf scored two runs on four hits to turn back the Whirlpool nine. Firestone went the route on hill for the victors, fanned nine Whirlpool stickmen, gave up no walks and was credited with the win. Hochstetter toed the rubber for the losers, also registered nine strikeouts but gave up four bases on balls.

Firestone helped his own cause by doubling. Hochstetter and Harper turned the trick for Whirpool.

Baker Wood, with Bill Metzger hurling, slipped past Empire, 5-2, scoring all their runs on six hits. Empire also rcked up a sextet of safetie- but Metzger held Empire base runners in check when the chips were down.

Winning pitcher Metzger struck out eight Empire batters and issued one free pass. Berridge, tagged with the loss, was credited with six strikeouts. He allowed no one to stroll.

Berridge did more than his share in his own behalf, getting two for three at the plate, one of which was a double. Moore, Howison and Shott followed suit. Howison was also two for three.

In the American loop fracas, National City Bank and Isaly's staged a duel that wound up with the Bankers in the driver's seat by a 3-2 score.

Armstrong went the distance for the National Citians for the victory. Downing likewise hurled for the full count and was charged with the defeat.

Stevenson helped the Isaly's cause with a pair of two - base hits.

Rams Record 11-6 Win Over Pleasant

New Bloomington, fighting to reach the .500 mark in Marion County League action, clipped Pleasant 11-6 Tuesday night at the winners' diamond.

The Pandas exploded for three runs in the third and added three more in the sixth but the Rams scored five in the third, one in the fifth and five in the sixth. None of the Pleasant runs were earned as five New Bloomington errors figured in the scoring.

Larry Basel was on the mound for Coach Jim Coffman's winners. Peacock, Miller and Massie divided the pitching for the losers. Basel aided his own cause with three hits including a grand slam home run in the third frame. Bob Gracely cracked out two hits for the winners while Bob Bernow had two of Pleasant's hits.

It was the third win in a four-day period for the Rams. Saturday night, they clipped Waldo 9-7 and Monday night battered Ridgeway in a 23-0 romp. Marvin Boles was the winning pitcher in Monday night's rout. Larry Basel banged out three safeties to lead a 14 - hit attack. Duane Basel banged out two doubles in two trips to the plate and Boles had two hits, including a double.

The Rams will be in action at Prospect tonight in the first game of a double header slated to begin at 6:30. An alumni game is planned Sunday at 2 p.m.

I'VE BEEN TRYING TO THINK THIS OUT, MARTHA! I KNEW YOU'D FEEL AS I DID...THAT NOTHING SHOULD INTERFERE WITH OUR JUDITH'S MARRIAGE TO WALTER CARR!
I'LL DO WHATEVER YOU BELIEVE BEST, BRUCE!
IT'LL BE ONLY A COUPLE OF WEEKS MORE...THEN YOU CAN COME HOME! AND WE CAN START OUR LIFE TOGETHER AGAIN RIGHT WHERE WE LEFT OFF TEN YEARS AGO, MY DARLING!
YES, BRUCE!
MAY WE COME IN NOW? THE TWO OF US ARE JUST ANXIOUS TO SHARE YOUR PLANS!
COME IN, DR. MORGAN! MARTHA AND I HAVE DECIDED THAT SHE'LL COME HOME THREE WEEKS FROM TODAY!

Southern Sections in Bid Stage

Cincinnati-Toledo Pike Project Pushed by State

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—In the coming months, the Ohio Department of Highways will move toward its goal of building a superhighway between Cincinnati and Toledo.

Tuesday the department opened bids for the second project in the Cincinnati - Dayton portion of the road, which will be six lanes wide. Contractors will bid on another project in a month and all the 10 six-lane construction sections are to be under contract by Nov. 1.

The 34 miles of the Cincinnati-Dayton road - which will replace U.S. 25 - will cost an estimated 60 million dollars and will be finished in 1960. Eventually, the road may be expanded to 10 lanes at the Cincinnati and Dayton ends.

While the department has heavily publicized the Cincinnati-Dayton Freeway and the Cincinnati-Conneaut Freeway, there has been little fanfare about plans for the Toledo, a distance of 179 miles.

That largely is because it will take more years to finish this replacement for U.S. 25. It does not have the high priority for construction given some other freeways.

Counting land, it will cost an estimated 293 million dollars.

Much has been done already in bringing the road to high standards between Dayton and Toledo. Some construction is under way now and other work is being planned, although no construction schedules have been set.

From Dayton to Vandalia, where U.S. 40 crosses, the road now is a four-lane limited access highway, but is not up to interstate standards. Crossroads now cross U.S. 25 at grade level. Eventually they will be separated from U.S. 25.

The road is up to interstate standards from Vandalia to a few miles north of Troy, and a section from there to north of Sidney is under construction. It should be finished by mid-1960, highway officials say. The work began recently.

The section of the new road from near Sidney to U.S. 33 near Wapakoneta still is in the planning stage, as is relocation of U.S. 33 around Wapakoneta.

The road from there north, past Lima, either was opened to traffic recently or still is under construction. The department recently awarded a contract for grade separations for the Lima bypass on U.S. 25.

The road now is four lanes from Lima to past Beaverdam, and the section from Beaverdam to the long Findlay bypass is in the engineering report stage. There now is a bypass around Bluffton, but it is only two lanes wide.

The Findlay bypass is four lanes and goes to North Baltimore. Plans are being prepared for the road between North Baltimore and Cygnet, and an engineering report from Cygnet to Perrysburg, south of Toledo, is being prepared. The Perrysburg-Toledo route is under study.

Farm Bureau To Open Trade Center in Europe

The American Farm Bureau Federation has announced that it will establish a U.S. agricultural trade center in Rotterdam, the Netherlands.

Charles B. Shuman, federation president, has said that October of this year is the proposed date for opening such a center.

Main function of the facility will be to enhance sales of agricultural products abroad, with the center working closely with existing private or cooperative organizations working in foreign trade.

Local Witnesses To Attend Meeting At New York City

Jehovah's Witnesses from the Marion congregation today announced plans are under way to attend an internathional convention of Jehovah's Witnesses in New York City this summer.

Ray H. Smith, presiding minister of the local group, said the convention could be the largest in the history of Jehovah's Witnesses. It is scheduled for July 27 through August 3 and will be held in Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds simultaneously.

The last international convention, attended by many of the Marion congregation, was held in 1953 in Yankee Stadium and reached a peak attendance of 165,000, including the overflow audiences. Watchtower officials, Mr. Smith said, have arranged this year for the program to be held in both places, with most program features repeated at the Polo Grounds immediately following the first presentation in Yankee Stadium.

The Watchtower Bible and Tract Society, governing agency for Jehovah's Witnesses, has been making special travel arrangements for foreign delegates. Many missionaries who have served in other lands will also be brought to the United States for the Bible convention. Purpose of the gathering is to provide stimulus for the New World Society of Jehovah's Witnesses in Christian association, Bible instruction and ministerial training. This, Mr. Smith said, is in accordance with provisions made for God's people in Bible days.

Mr. Smith stated that it is not yet known how many Witnesses from the area will attend, but, he added, because Marion will send a large delegation it may be necessary to make limited meeting arrangements or cancel local meetings altogether during convention time.

Mothers of the Brownies were guests at the meeting. Refreshments, served by the hostess, concluded the special ceremony.

Financier Defendant in SEC Action

Wolfson Denies Stock Manipulation Charges

NEW YORK (AP) — Financier Louis E. Wolfson denies any wrongdoing in connection with stock of the American Motors Corp.

Wolfson, defendant in a civil court action brought here by the Securities and Exchange Commission, said in a statement from his Jacksonville, Fla., office: "Any charge or accusation of manipulation or fraud by reason of anything I have done is ridiculous and will be proved to be unjustified in due course."

Wolfson said he has not owned any American Motors stock for several weeks.

He was temporarily restrained Tuesday from further dealings in American Motors Corp. common stock. The SEC said the company was not involved in the case against Wolfson.

Acting on a complaint by the SEC, Federal Judge Frederick VanPelt Bryan issued an order temporarily restraining the financier from further alleged violations of provisions of the Securities and Exchange Act of 1934.

Wolfson, 46, started with a Jacksonville, Fla., junkyard. His personal fortune now is estimated at close to 100 million dollars. Until recently he was said to be the largest stockholder in American Motors.

The SEC said Wolfson or his agents caused statements to be published which depressed the price of American Motors common stock.

In its complaint to the court the SEC said Wolfson indicated in various statements last winter and this spring that he was maintaining his interest in American Motors when actually he was unloading his entire holding of the company's stock.
